THE HOLY EUCHARIST: 7.00 P.M.

Processional Hymn: 112 Tune: Irby
Prayer at the Christmas Crib: (said together)

O Heavenly Father, there was no room for Mary and Joseph at the Inn of Bethlehem. Help us all this Christmas to make room for Jesus in our hearts, so that, like the angels, we may sing his joyful praise, and like the shepherds, we may go and see the Child in the Manger. Help us to give him our worship and the love and loyalty of our hearts; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN.

PRAYERS

I asked for strength that I might achieve;
He made me weak that I might obey.
I asked for health that I might do greater things;
I was given grace that I might do better things.
I asked for riches that I might be happy;
I was given poverty that I might be wise.
I asked for power that I might have the praise of men;
I was given weakness that I might feel the need of God.
I asked for all things that I might enjoy life;
I was given life that I might enjoy all things.
I received nothing that I asked for, all that I hoped for,
My prayer was answered.

ARE YOU FUN TO LIVE WITH?

"In our fiercely competitive world, in a technological age, it is perhaps natural that we tend to be problem minded. We pride ourselves on making right choices based on data accumulated through research, computers, polls, books and magazine articles. Material facts and human knowledge figure in our decisions, but we are often unaware of a lonely heart, a stifled dream, or a bitter spirit in someone in our own home or office. That magic moment of oneness which suddenly makes all of life worthwhile, escapes us."

Lionel Whiston

THE PRAYING MAN

"The praying man or woman is the person who comes out of their shelter and not only has the courage to see their own poverty, but also sees that there is no enemy to hide from, only a friend who would like nothing better than to clothe them with their own coat."

Henri J.M. Nouwen

"Nature does not require that we be perfect; it requires only that we grow, and we can do this as well from a mistake as from a success."

Rollo May

NO TIME TO PRAY

I got up early one morning, and rushed right into the day,
I had so much to accomplish, I didn't have time to pray;
Problems just tumbled about me and heavier came each task
"Why doesn't God help me?" I wondered
He answered "You didn't ask."

I wanted joy and beauty, but the day was grey and bleak.
I wondered why God didn't show me,
He said "You didn't seek."

I tried to come into His presence, I used every key in the lock.
He gently and lovingly reminded:
"My child, you didn't knock."

Ask and it shall be given you, seek and you will find,
knock and it will be opened to you.

He says again 'I am the begotten of the One God, befo Abraham was, I am,' and remember what the words 'I a were in Hebrew. They were the name of God, which mus not be spoken by any human being, the name which it was death to utter....

If you had gone to Budda and asked him, 'Are you the son of Bramah?' he would have said, 'My son, you are still in the vale of illusion.' If you had gone to Socrates and asked, 'Are you Zeus?' he would have laughed at you. If you had gone to Mohammed and asked, 'Are you Allah?' he would first have rent his clothes and then cut your head off. If you had asked Confucius, 'Are you Heaven?' I think he would have probably replied, 'Remarks which are not in accordanc with nature are in bad taste.' The idea of a great moral teacher saying what Christ said is out of the question. In my opinion, the only person who can say that sort of thing is either God or a complete lunatic suffering from that form of delusion which undermines the whole of man... He was never regarded as a mere moral teacher. He did not produce that effect on any of the people who actually met Him. He produced mainly three effects - Hatred - Terror - Adoration. There was no trace of people expressing mild approval.

'What are We to make of Jesus Christ?'

Did you ever think, when you were a child, what fun it would be if your toys could come to life? Well suppose you could really have brought them to life. Imagine turning a tin soldier into a real little man. It would involve turning the tin into flesh; all he sees is that the tin is being spoilt. He thinks you are killing him. He will do everything he can to prevent you. He will not be made into a man if he can help it.

What you would have done about that tin soldier I do not know. But what God did about us was this. The Second Person in God, the Son, became human Himself: was born into the world as an actual man - a real man of a particular height, with hair of a particular colour, speaking a particular language, weighing so many stone. The Eternal Being, who knows everything and who created the whole universe, became not only a man but (before that) a baby, and before that a foetus inside a Woman's body. If you want to get the hang of it, think how you would like to become a slug or a crab.

The Man in Christ rose again: not only the God. That is the whole point. For the first time we saw a real man. One tin soldier - real tin, just like the rest - had come fully and splendidly alive.

Why do we address these matters fraught with such complexity, controversy and passion? We speak as pastors, not politicians. We are teachers, not technicians. We cannot avoid our responsibility to lift up the moral dimensions of the choices before our world and nation. The nuclear age is an era of moral as well as physical danger. We are the first generation since Genesis with the power to threaten the created order. We cannot remain silent in the face of such danger. Why do we address these issued? We are simply trying to live up to the call of Jesus to be peacemakers in our own time and situation.

What are we saying? Fundamentally, we are saying that the decisions about nuclear weapons are among the most pressing moral questions of our age. While these decisions have obvious military and political aspects, they involve fundamental moral choices. In simple terms, we are saying that good ends (defending one's country, protecting freedom, etc.) cannot justify immoral means (the use of weapons which kill indiscriminately and threaten whole societies). We fear that our world and nation are headed in the wrong direction. More weapons with greater destructive potential are produced every day. More and more nations are seeking to become nuclear powers. In our quest for more and more security we are actually becoming less and less secure.

We need a "moral about-face". The whole world must summon the moral courage and technical means to say no to nuclear conflict; no to weapons of mass destruction; no to an arms race which robs the poor and the vulnerable; and no to the moral danger of a nuclear age which places before humankind indefensible choices of constant terror or surrender. Peacemaking is not an optional commitment. It is a requirement of our faith.

Christ Church

3602 - 8th Street S.W., Calgary, Alberta T2T 3A7

The same divine humility which decreed that God should become a baby at a peasant-woman's breast, and later an arrested field-preacher in the hands of the Roman police, decreed also that He should be preached in a vulgar, prosaic and unliterary language. If you can stomach the one, you can stomach the other. The Incarnation is in that sense an irreverent doctrine: Christianity, in that sense, an incurably irreverent religion. When we expect that it should have come before the World in all the beauty that we now feel in the Authorised Version we are as wide of the mark as the Jews were in expecting that the Messiah would come as a great earthly King. The real sanctity, the real beauty and sublimity of the New Testament (as of Christ's life) are of a different sort: miles deeper or further in.

Finally, though it may seem a sour paradox - we must sometimes get away from the Authorised Version, if for no other reason, simply because it is so beautiful and so solemn. Beauty exalts, but beauty also lulls. Early associations endear but they also confuse. Through that beautiful solemnity the transporting or horrifying realities of which the Book tells may come to us blunted and disarmed and we may only sigh with tranquil veneration when we ought to be burning with shame or struck dumb with terror or carried out of ourselves by ravishing hopes and adorations.

LET YOUR GIVING GROW

A small boy, in snow up to his waist, struggles to follow his father for whom the snow is barely knee deep. The father, without looking back, says to the boy, "So, you think this is bad! When I was your age, the snow used to come up to my waist!"

The same amount of snow means much more to the small boy than to this six-foot father.

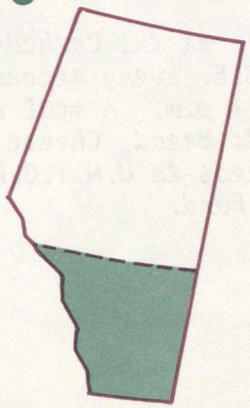

The same is true of our giving to God. For some of us a fairly small gift represents a much greater sacrifice than a larger gift from someone of greater wealth. But how are we to know what is an appropriate response to God?

The scriptural example is that of proportionate or percentage giving. The earliest people of God determined that they should honour God by returning a tithe, or one tenth of all they had, to Him. This standard has stood over the centuries as the biblical standard and was reaffirmed by our Church as recently as 1977.

Many of us have a long way to go before we reach this standard and it is probably impossible for us to alter our family budgets immediately to accommodate a tithe. But we can grow toward it.

At General Synod in 1983 we challenged ourselves to grow toward the tithe by increasing our giving each year by 1% of our income. If I gave 2% last year, I can try to give 3% this year and 4% next year. In this way we can increase our response to God's call to mission and still be good stewards of all our responsibilities.

. . . a good standard to grow by!

The 1% program is endorsed by the Bishop and the diocese of Calgary.

HEAVEN

If you read history you will find that the Christians who did most for the present world were just those who thought most of the next. The Apostles themselves, who set on foot the conversion of the Roman Empire, the great men who built up the Middle Ages, the English Evangelicals who abolished the Slave Trade, all left their mark on Earth, precisely because their minds were occupied with Heaven. It is since Christians have largely ceased to think of the other world that they have become so ineffective in this. Aim at Heaven and you will get earth 'thrown in'; aim at earth and you will get neither.

Mere Christianity, bk. 3, ch. 10
C.S. LEWIS

* * * *

My grandfather, I'm told, used to say that he 'looked forward to having some very interesting conversations with St. Paul when he got to heaven'. Two clerical gentlemen talking at ease in a club! It never seemed to cross his mind that an encounter with St. Paul might be rather an overwhelming experience even for an Evangelical clergyman of good family. But when Dante saw the great apostles in heaven they affected him like mountains. There's lots to be said against devotions to saints; but at least they keep on reminding us that we are very small people compared with them. How much smaller before their Master?

We do not want merely to see beauty, though, God knows, even that is bounty enough. We want something else which can hardly be put into words - to be united with the beauty we see, to pass into it, to receive it into ourselves, to bathe in it, to become part of it. That is why we have peopled air and earth and water with gods and goddesses and nymphs and elves - that, though we cannot, yet these projections can, enjoy in themselves that beauty, grace and power of which Nature is the image. That is why the poets tell us such lovely falsehoods. They talk as if the west wind could really sweep into a human soul; but it can't. They tell us that 'beauty born of murmuring sound' will pass into a human face; but it won't. Or not yet. For if we take the imagery of Scripture seriously, if we believe that God will one day give us the Morning Star and cause us to put on the splendour of the sun, then we may surmise that both the ancient myths and the modern poetry, so false as history, may be very near the truth as prophecy. At present we are on the outside of the world, the wrong side of the door. We discern the freshness and purity of morning, but they do not make us fresh and pure. We cannot mingle with the splendours we see. but all the leaves of the New Testament are rustling with the rumour that it will not always be so. Some day, God willing, we shall get in.

THIS COMING SUNDAY, OCTOBER 20 those of us who wish to, will participate in a parish workshop. There will be one service at 10 a.m. Those of us participating will leave after the Homily, the rest of us remaining.

Why do this? Because each of us enriches the worship of Christ Church and so each of us has thoughts, insights and opinions about it that are worth sharing. So here is your invitation.

* * * *

When I first began to draw near to belief in God and even for some time after it had been given to me, I found a stumbling block in the demand so clamorously made by all religious people that we should 'praise' God; still more in the suggestion that God Himself demanded it.. What do we mean when we say that a picture is 'admirable'?... The sense in which the picture 'deserves' or 'demands' admiration is rather this, that admiration is the correct, adequate or appropriate, response to it, that, if paid, admiration will not be 'thrown away', and that if we do not admire we shall be stupid, insensible, and great losers, we shall have missed something...God is that Object to admire which is simply to be awake, to have entered the real world; not to appreciate which is to have lost the greatest experience, and in the end to have lost all.

I did not see that it is in the process of being worshipped that God communicates His presence to men and women.

AN INVITATION TO YOU FOR OCTOBER 20

On Sunday October 20 at 10 a.m. our two congregations join for a parish workshop. The Eucharist will begin at 10 a.m. and after the Homily those of us who wish to participate will leave, others will remain.

What will be done? We will be responding to preparation done by the members of the Music and Worship Committee. We will have an opportunity to discuss what our worship here at Christ Church means to us, the ways in which worship may give meaning to our lives, or perhaps the things we long to have which we feel are missing.

Why do this? Because worship belongs to us all. We are not merely spectators or listeners. We each offer praise, singing, prayer. Without any one of us the worship of Christ Church is that much poorer, quite irrespective of money or numbers or any such measurement.

Do you know that worship is the only activity of heaven mentioned in the Bible. Could it be because it is the most important thing in life?

Books about prayer are as unappetising as books of sexology, and for the same reason. It is only from inside the experience that sex and prayer are fitting and fine. From outside they are chilling and incomprehensible. One thinks of the total bafflement of children at the open secret shared by the grown-ups.

What humiliates, looking back at one's attempts at prayer, is the pretentiousness of it all. The elaborate categories which were explained to me when I became a Christian - categories of praise and thanksgiving, of meditation and intercession. One dutifully tried to think oneself into gratitude and penitence and all the rest. I have never quite thrown off the sense of gloom and failure which hung over the whole attempt for me - I felt like a mongol trying to learn Greek. Part of the misery had to do with the talk of relationship with God. I hoped for something not unlike a daily telephone conversation with God, and was hurt that He seemed undisposed to chat.

One's pride and pretentiousness does not much like the alternative, however, which is the scaling down of prayer to something utterly simple, and non-active. Sitting. Trying to inhabit oneself, and to set oneself within the landscape. When one achieves it praise is the natural response.

In speaking of this desire for our own far-off country, which we find in ourselves even now, I feel a certain shyness. I am almost committing an indecency. I am trying to rip open the inconsolable secret in each one of you - the secret which hurts so much that you take your revenge on it by calling it names like Nostalgia and Romanticism and Adolescence...Our commonest expedient is to call it beauty and behave as if that had settled the matter. Wordsworth's expedient was to identify it with certain moments in his own past. But all this is a cheat. If Wordsworth had gone back to those moments in the past, he would not have found the thing itself, but only the reminder of it; what he remembered would turn out to be itself a remembering. The books or the music in which we thought the beauty was located will betray us if we trust to them; it was not in them, it only came through them, and what came through them was longing. These things - the beauty, the memory of our own past - are good images of what we really desire; but if they are mistaken for the thing itself they turn into dumb idols, breaking the hearts of their worshippers. For they are not the thing itself; they are only the scent of a flower we have not found, the echo of a tune we have not heard, news from a country we have never yet visited... The sense that in this universe we are treated as strangers, the longing to be acknowledged, to meet with some response, to bridge some chasm that yawns between us and reality, is part of our inconsolable secret...
Our lifelong nostalgia, our longing to be reunited with something in the universe from which we now feel cut off, to be on the inside of some door which we have always seen from the outside, is no mere neurotic fancy but the truest index of our real situation.

PRAYER/ACTION

"There is a certian class of demons that can only be chased away by prayer"
- the demons of deafness to God, dumbness in thanksgiving,
self-sufficiency, worry, despair and solitude.

But there is another class that can only be chased away by action
- the demons of illusion, sentimentality and infantilism, narcissism and laziness.

So if we cultivate prayer exclusively,
we harbor the second lot,
and it we cultivate action exclusively we harbor the first lot.

YOU GO TO LEARN

You do not go to the Eucharist to serve God;
you go to learn
how God breaks bread,
so that you can go
and do it in the same way, because God is known in the breaking of bread.

THE PRAYER OF BELIEF: A LITURGICAL CREED

We believe that where people are gathered together in love God is present and good things happen and life is full.

We believe that we are immersed in mystery that our lives are more than they seem that we belong to each other and to a universe of great creative energies whose source and destiny is God.

We believe that God is after us that he is calling to us from the depth of human life.

We believe that God has risked himself and become human in Jesus.

In and with Jesus we believe that each of us is situated in the love of God and the pattern of our life will be the pattern of Jesus-- through death to resurrection.

We believe that the Spirit of Peace is present with us, the Church, as we gather to celebrate our common existence
the resurrection of Jesus, and the fidelity of God.

And most deeply we believe that in our struggle to love
we incarnate God in the world.
And so aware of mystery and wonder, caught in friendship and laughter
we become speechless before the joy in our hearts and celebrate the sacredness of life in the Eucharist.

Transforming Power

The message of the Bible is . . .
that into the confusion of man's world,
with its divisions and hatred, has come a message
of transforming power, and those who believe it will experience within themselves the power that makes for reconciliation and peace on earth . . .

Thomas Merton
from Opening the Bible

Transformed

And that is how Theology started.
People already knew about God in a vague way.
Then came a man who claimed to be God;
and yet He was not the sort of man you could dismiss as a lunatic.
He made them believe Him.

They met Him again
after they had seen Him killed.

And then after they had been formed into a little society or community, they found God somehow inside them as well:
directing them,
making them able to do things they could never do before.

C.S. Lewis
from Mere Christianity

What is devilish about perfection is that it always seems attainable and it never is. It drives us to ceaseless anxiety, strain and compulsion. We are like house-proud women. We want the perfect home, the perfect relationship, the perfect holiday, the perfect life. This kills joy.

Monica Furlong

Too much grace and too little nature produces undertones in which there can be detected something either anaemic or hysterical . . . . it is due to the belief of most Christian people, a belief of which many of them are largely unaware, that if they are to serve God and show forth his goodness, then they must be a great deal less than their full selves.

Harry Williams

Whatever happens, even in a world three-quarters blotted out by a weapon of destruction, there will always be in the back part of some cellar a small group crowding around a table and a man anointed who breaks and distributes the 'Living Bread'.

I do not for a moment question that Affection is responsible for nine-tenths of whatever solid and durable happiness there is in our natural lives.

The Four Loves, ch. 3

if I am sure of anything I am sure that His teaching was never meant to confirm my congenital preference for safe investments and limited liabilities ...

Love anything, and your heart will certainly be wrung and possibly be broken. If you want to make sure of keeping it intact, you must give your heart to no one, not even to an animal. Wrap it carefully round with hobbies and little luxuries; avoid all entanglements; lock it up safe in the casket or coffin or your selfishness. But in that casket - safe, dark, motionless, airless - it will change. It will not be broken; it will become unbreakable, impenetrable, irredeemable. The alternative to tragedy, or at least to the risk of tragedy, is damnation. The only place outside Heaven where you can be perfectly safe from all the dangers and perturbations of love is Hell.

I believe that the most lawless and inordinate loves are less contrary to God's will than a self-invited and self-protective lovelessness.

L'Envoi

When Earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colours have faded, and the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it - lie down for an æon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen shall put us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit in a golden chair,
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair!
They shall find real saints to draw from - Magdalene,
Peter, and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us and only the Master shall blame;
And no-one shall work for money, and no-one shall work for fame,
But each for the joy of the working and each in his separate star
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it for the God of Things as They Are!

ALL THE DIFFERENCE

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood, and sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And Looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps a better claim
Because it was grassy and wanted wear ...

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I -
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

The Poetry of Robert Frost

There shall be a causeway there
Which shall be called the Way of Holiness.
It shall become a pilgrims way ...

I AM A CROWD

Within my earthly temple,
there's a crowd;
There's one of us that's humble,
and one that's proud;
There's one that's broken-hearted for his sins
And one who unrepentant sits and grins.

There's one who loves his neighbor as himself;
And one who cares for naught but fame and self.
From much corroding care
I should be free,
If once I could decide which one is me.

Author unknown

The Way

When we have traveled all ways, we shall come to the End of all ways,
who says,
"I am the way".

Looking for God - or Heaven - by exploring space is like reading or seeing all Shakespeare's plays in the hope that you will find Shakespeare as one of the characters or Stratford as one of the places. Shakespeare is in one sense present at every moment in every play. But he is never present in the same way as Falstaff or Lady Macbeth. Nor is he diffused through the play like a gas.

If there were an idiot who thought plays existed on their own, without an author . . . our belief in Shakespeare would not be much affected by his saying, quite truly, that he had studied all the plays and never found Shakespeare in them . . . .

I am not suggesting at all that the existence of God is as easily established as the existence of Shakespeare. My point is that, if God does exist, He is related to the universe more as an author is related to a play than as one object in the universe is related to another . . . .

To some, God is discoverable everywhere; to others, nowhere, Those who do not find Him on earth are unlikely to find Him in space. (Hang it all, we're in space already; every year we go a huge circular tour in space.) But send a saint up in a spaceship and he'll find God in space as he found God on earth. Much depends on the seeing eye.

Conditions for being shown God's will

1. Readiness to accept and do God's will without any conditions or reservations.
2. Reference to God of all the problems, attitudes, opportunities and decisions of our lives.
3. Readiness to receive insights from others but not to let them decide for us.
4. Examination of any intuitions to discover any ulterior motives or reluctance.
5. Patient waiting upon God until a persistent feeling of oughtness comes.
6. Quiet putting into practice of the guidance received without dithering or looking back.

Let God take over

When we get thoroughly tired and find ourselves in an 'impasse' it is better not to go on trying to think. It is better to make the mind follow the heart to God, as the heart has before followed the mind. When we find we can no longer think for ourselves, we can turn to him, and often he will think for us, making things clear we know not how, drawing us to obvious conclusions, we know not by what arguments, creating certainty, and satisfaction, and courage, when everything we did for ourselves only left us vague, and doubting, and not wholly convinced; not so convinced, at least, as to make conviction lead to action.

The child is naturally a thinking, acting, feeling, learning animal and we do not need to force him to learn. What we need to do is bring as much of the world as we can into his learning environment, offering as much guidance and assistance as he asks for or needs.

The business of education ought to be the lives of children, and the relationships between children and children, children and adults. Education is not preparation for later life but concern for the present lives of persons. Nothing, no curriculum, content, teacher, schedule or anything else is more important than the learner. Learning at its best is an opportunity for ongoing relationships between children and adults.

It seems clear that children and youth can learn about worship only as they participate actively in the total life of a congregation. No longer can we afford to ignore the educational implications of every aspect of our life in a congregation. The community of faith educates best and most significantly through the experiences we offer to persons to share in our life. The future of relevant church education is with those who take seriously experience in the life of a congregation. Here is the place to begin as we plan for the church becoming an educating community.

A LITANY FOR THE PARISH

Help us with your grace, good Lord, to live as true followers of your Son Jesus Christ:
Grant this, O Lord.

That in all things we may hold to your will and purpose:
Grant this, O Lord.

That our hearts and minds may be open to your holiness and truth:
Grant this, O Lord.

That we may rightly value the whole of your creation:
Grant this, O Lord.

That we may seek your righteousness in all our dealings with one another:
Grant this, O Lord.

That we may bear each other's burdens, and so obey your law:
Grant this, O Lord.

That we may maintain and set forward love and peace among all men:
Grant this, O Lord.

That we may bring comfort to the lonely, strength to the fearful, wisdom to the ignorant, and a living hope to those who walk in darkness:
Grant this, O Lord

That in all our time on earth we may work and live as citizens of your heavenly kingdom:
Grant this, O Lord.

Lord, receive these our prayers, in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen

We cannot pray to you, O God, to end war;
For we know You have made the world in a way
That we must find our own path to peace
Within ourselves, and with our people and nations;

We cannot merely pray to You, O God, to end starvation;
For You have already given us the resources
With which to feed the entire world
If we would only use them wisely.

We cannot merely pray to You, O God, to root out prejud
For You already have given us eyes
With which to see good in every person;
If we would only use them rightly.

We cannot merely pray to You, O God, to end disease and despair -;
For already You have given us minds and wills
To search out cures, and to create justice;
If only we would use them constructively.

Therefore, we pray to you instead, O God,
For strength, determination and will-power,
To do, instead of just to pray
To become instead of merely to wish.

A noted social scientist has insisted that the fundamental religious needs of people have not changed since the Ice Age. Modern people, like their ancient predecessors, need faith, community, stories and symbols, and ethics too, which reflect the nature of reality and enable them to experience the sacred.

To-day this is truer than ever before. For if scientific progress has diminished the number of natural mysteries that religion must explain, then the magnitude and momentum of our technology, and the increasing complexity of human relationships, have multiplied the number of human problems which baffle and mystify. Humanity's basic religious needs do not change very much. But the forms and structures of society, and the thought patterns of people do change, constantly. Therefore I invite your relection on these closely related topics:

* the religious realities of life that do not change,
* the social and institutional aspects of our faith which do and must change
* how living in a secular society complicates the challenge of change,
* some alternative strategies for coping, and some practical implications for our common life in parish and diocese.

The above is a selection from "TAKING RISKS AND KEEPING FAITH", a new and very worth while book from John Bothwell, Bishop of Niagara. It's on sale in the Crump Room.

What makes life difficult is that the process of confronting and solving problems is a painful one. Problems, depending upon their nature, evoke in us frustration or grief or sadness or loneliness or guilt or regret or anger or fear or anxiety or anguish or despair. These are uncomfortable feelings, often very uncomfortable, often as painful as any kind of physical pain, sometimes equaling the very worst kind of physical pain. Indeed, it is because of the pain that events or conflicts engender in us that we call them problems. And since life poses an endless series of problems, life is always difficult and is full of pain as well as joy.

Yet it is in this whole process of meeting and solving problems that life has its meaning. Problems are the cutting edge that distinguishes between success and failure. Problems call forth our courage and our wisdom; indeed, they create our courage and our wisdom. It is only because of problems that we grow mentally and spiritually. When we desire to encourage the growth of the human spirit, we challenge and encourage the human capacity to solve problems, just as in school we deliberately set problems for our children to solve. It is through the pain of confronting and resolving problems that we learn. As Benjamin Franklin said, "Those things that hurt, instruct." It is for this reason that wise people learn not to dread but actually to welcome problems and actually to welcome the pain of problems.

A CLEARER VIEW
- "Sight for the Warm Heart of Africa"

The travel poster read: "Come and spend your vacation with us in Malawi - the warm heart of Africa". I went to Malawi, not for a vacation, but to monitor the work being done by the mobile eye unit being sponsored by Operation Eyesight Universal and to explore other ways in which we might be able to help in the establishment of a useful eye program in that part of Africa explored by David Livingstone, the famous Scottish Christian explorer/ missionary. I found that Malawi is indeed "the warm heart of Africa". Happy people greet you openly on the street. They are friendly and courteous and seem to be well organized. They do have some problems, however. In that small country there are about 70,000 curable blind. In the country south of Blantyre trachoma is rife. Xerophthalmia also robs little children of the precious gift of sight. Eye trauma and cuts and scratches to the eye are common because of the nature of the agricultural work in the country.

Dr. Moses Chirambo, a Malawian ophthalmologist trained in Calgary, Edmonton and Jerusalem, is currently the Secretary of Health and is working to develop an integrated eye care service for that country of about 9,000,000 people. OEU is part of the team that is helping to make it happen. We presently sponsor 3 mobile eye units strategically placed in the north, centre and south divisions of the country. Thank you for your part in making this a viable program.

A Christian is a person who, with all the honesty of which he is capable, becomes convinced that the fact of Jesus Christ is the most trustworthy that he knows in his entire universe of discourse. ...

For the Christian, Christ is not the end of the quest but the beginning. Starting with Him, we are forced by intellectual integrity to proceed a long way. If we are committed to Him, we trust Him about the being and character of God, about the reality of prayer, about the possibility of miracle, and about life everlasting. The deepest conviction of the Christian is that Christ was not wrong! Particularly we are convinced that he was not wrong in His report about Himself.

To say that Christ is the fulcrum is not merely to say that He was the greatest figure of history or the finest moral teacher. It is, instead, to see Him as the genuine revelation of the mystery of existence, the one clear light among many shadows. Commitment is thus vastly more than mere admiration. It means passionate involvement in His Life, teachings, death and resurrection. ... We are not Christians until we are committed, and we are not committed until we combine, in our faith in Christ, the reasons of the heart with the reasons of the intellect.

WORSHIP

Phrases like Worship Service or Service of Worship are tautologies. To worship God means to serve Him. Basically there are two ways to do it. One way is to do things for Him that he needs to have done - run errands for Him, carry messages for Him, fight on His side, feed His lambs, and so on. The other way is to do things for Him, create beautiful things for Him, give things up for Him, tell Him what's on your mind and in your heart, in general rejoice in Him and make a fool of yourself for Him the way lovers have always made fools of themselves for the one they love.

A Quaker Meeting, a Pontifical High Mass, the Family Service at First Presbyterian, a Holy Roller Happening - unless there is an element of joy and foolishness in the proceedings, the time would be better spent doing something useful.

MYTH

The raw material of a myth, like the raw material of a dream, may be something that actually happened once. But myths, like dreams, do not tell us much about that kind of actuality. The creation of man, Adam and Eve, the Tower of Babel, Oedipus - they do not tell us primarily about events. They tell us about ourselves.

In popular usage, a myth has come to mean a story that is not true. Historically speaking that may well be so. Humanly speaking, a myth is a story that is always true.

The Service continues on page 75
Communion Sentence	Tone I
Motet: Ave verum corpus	William Byrd

Hail, true Body - born of the Virgin Mary; truly Thou didst suffer on the cross for us men. Thou, from whose side flowed blood and water, be our food in the trial of death.

Post Communion Prayers & Blessing	pages 85 & 86
Hymn 451	Nicht so traurig

During the Hymn the Choir will go in procession to the gallery where they will sing Psalm 22 - Matthew Camidge (Anglican Chant) while the sanctuary of God's house is laid bare in preparation for Good Friday.

TEXTS OF THE PROPERS:

Introit: He fed them also with the finest wheat flour, alleluia: and with honey from the rock hath he satisfied them, alleluia, alleluia, alleluia. Sing we merrily unto God our helper: make a cheerful noise unto the God of Jacob. Glory be ... and to the Holy: As it was ... and ever shall be: World without end. Amen.

Gradual

The eyes of all wait upon thee, O Lord: and thou givest them their meat in due season. Thou openest thy hand: and fillest all things living with plenteousness.

Alleluia. Alleluia. Alleluia. My flesh is meat indeed, and my Blood is drink indeed: he that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

Offertory

The priests of the Lord do offer the offerings of the Lord, made by fire and the bread of their God: therefore they shall be holy unto their God, and not profane the Name of their God, alleluia.

Communion. As often as ye do eat of this Bread, and dirnk this cup: ye do show the Lord's death til he come. Wherefore, whosoever shall eat of this Bread, and drink of this Cup of the Lord unworthily: shall be guilty of the Body and Blood of the Lord, alleluia.

Some words of explanation

The Service tonight has a twofold purpose:
(a) to give thanks to God for the Gift given to the Church on the first Maundy Thursday, the gift of the Eucharist made at the Last Supper; and
(b) to prepare our hearts and minds for the observance of the most solemn day of the Christian Year, Good Friday. The first part of the Service, the Eucharist itself, is characterized by an atmosphere of joyful thanksgiving: we have attempted to emphasize this by the use of the traditional vestments in white, by dressing the altar in white, the colour of joy and thanksgiving. The Introit and Gradual, Offertory and Communion Sentences, with their joyful outbursts of Alleluia, the Gospel sung in the midst of the congregation, the use of Servers carrying candles in procession, the Communion Motet - all of these are symbols of the Church's deep sense of joyful thanksgiving as we recall liturgically the gift of this great Sacrament of love.

But we also remember that this gift was given in the shadow of Good Friday, in the shadow of the Cross; and so the Maundy Thursday liturgy ends on a very different note. After the Eucharist is over, the altar and sanctuary are solemnly stripped of all their ornaments, the lights are dimmed; all of this to prepare us for Good Friday, the day on which our Lord was stripped of his clothing, stripped of his human dignity, stripped of all outward signs of his divinity; the day on which "there was darkness over all the land". The service ends with the eloquent testimony of a darkened and barren sanctuary speaking to us of the events we shall be commemorating in the Church tomorrow.

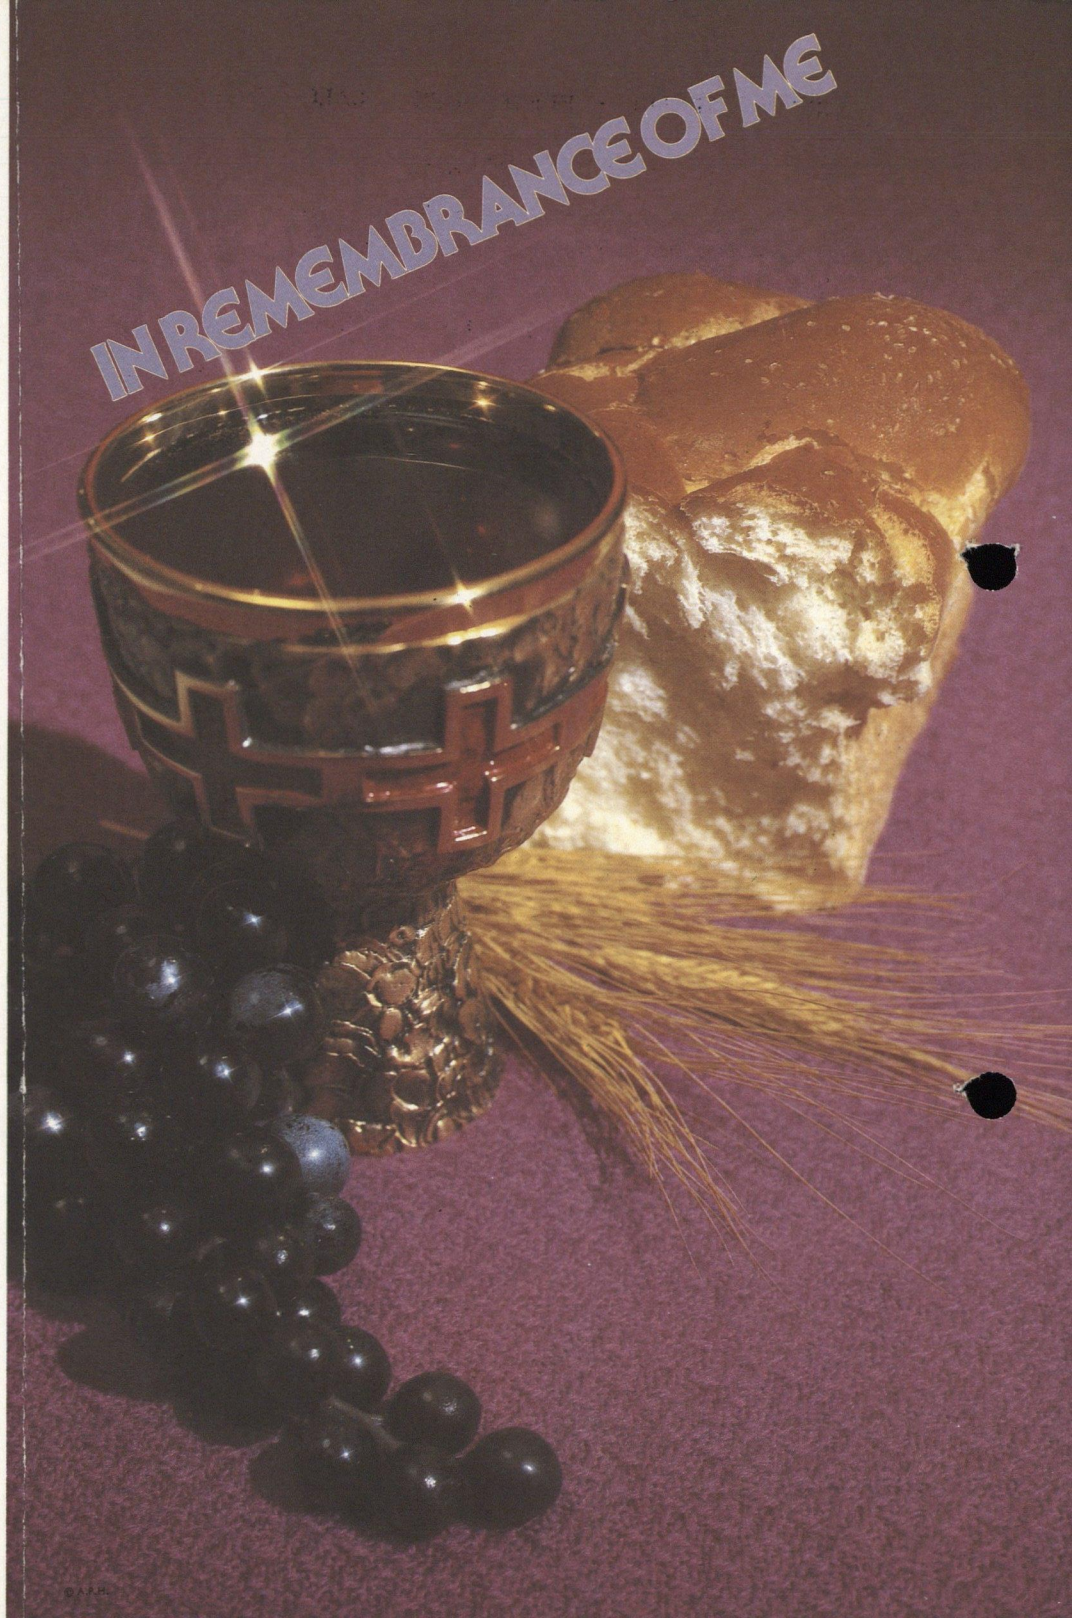

We ask you to leave the church this evening quietly.

THE PRIMATE'S FUND
The First 25 Years

Twenty-five years ago, our church decided to create an ongoing fund so we could respond quickly to disasters and world need. It was then called The Primate's World Relief Fund.

While still responding to emergencies and the needs of refugees throughout the world, now we also are engaged in development programs in more than 60 countries. We have grown in understanding as our on-the-ground church partners shared their hopes and visions as well as the desperate truth of poverty and tyranny. We have become a more effective part of a global Christian community which supports peoples' efforts to meet their basic needs with self-respect and human dignity.

Most of all, we have struggled to act faithfully in a complex world. As we learned that relief and refugee situations are linked with social, economic and political justice, we became conscious of the need to expand our work to include development.

The heart of the Primate's Fund is compassion and obedience to Christ's instruction to 'feed the hungry and clothe the naked'. We have come to recognize that the gospel from Matthew has to be seen in the light of Christ's declaration of his mission 'to lift the yoke of oppression' (Luke 4). The church then has a prophetic mission to join the voices raised in the plea to make a world which more closely resembles God's will on earth. Together with our partners, we have a role in that prophetic mission.

A 25th anniversary is a time to pause and reflect. We have made a beginning. It is time to renew our faith and expand our efforts to extend Christ's message of love and hope wherever people suffer.

"For God sent the Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him."

SACRAMENT

A sacrament is when something holy happens. It is transparent time, time which you can see through to something deep inside time.

Generally speaking, Protestants have two official sacraments (the Lord's Supper, Baptism) and Roman Catholics these two plus five others (Confirmation, Penance, Extreme Unction, Ordination, and Matrimony). In other words, at such milestone moments as seeing a baby baptized or being baptized yourself, confessing your sins, getting married, dying, you are apt to catch a glimpse of the almost unbearable preciousness and mystery of life.

Needless to say, church isn't the only place where the holy happens. Sacramental moments can occur at any moment, any place, and to anybody. Watching something get born. Making love. A high-school graduation. Somebody coming to see you when you're sick. A meal with people you love. Looking into a stranger's eyes and finding out he's not a stranger.

If we weren't blind as bats, we might see that life itself is sacramental.

THE MYSTERY AND INCOMPLETENESS OF HUMAN EXPERIENCE

For most of us, there is only the unattended
Moment, the moment in and out of time,
The distraction fit, lost in a shaft of sunlight,
The wild thyme unseen, on the winter lightening
Or the waterfall, or music heard so deeply
That it is not heard at all, but you are the music
While the music lasts ...

For most of us, this is the aim
Never here to be realized,
Who are only undefeated
Because we have gone on trying.

T.S. Eliot

Now we see only puzzling reflections
in a mirror,
But then we shall see face to face.
My knowledge now is partial;
then it will be whole,
like God's knowledge of me.

St. Paul

CHRIST CHURCH NOTICES - FEBRUARY 1985

LENTEN PROGRAM: "HOW DO WE CARE?": THIS WEDNESDAY 5.30 P.M. HOLY COMMUNION FOLLOWED BY POT LUCK SUPPER AND PROGRAM FOR ADULTS AND YOUTH: Theme this week "I was a Stranger and you Welcomed me". The program leaders are Carlos Vera, Chilean Immigrant and Jose Lopez, El Salvadoran Refugee with Linda Vargas as translator.

"THE ADOLESCENCE CHALLENGE - YOUR TEENAGER IS WORTH IT" - Wed. February 27, Jubilee Auditorium, 7.30 p.m. Come hear Barbara Coloroso, a renowned Developmental Psychologist speak. Tickets available at Bass outlets ($5.25 each)

SCRIPTURE UNION BANQUET: DR. PETER CRAIGIE will speak on "The Bible in the World of Education" on March 5th at 6.30 p.m. in First Baptist Church. Tickets (at $9) are limited. The telephone contact is Mrs. Carmen Anderson 238-2419.

THE CANADIAN BIBLE SOCIETY ANNUAL DINNER: Tuesday, February 26 at First Alliance Church, 1201 Glenmore Trail S.W. Meeting starts 5.15 p.m. Dinner 6.15 p.m. Evening worship 7.30 p.m. Speaker, Mrs. Ann Russell, wife of General Secretary of the Society. Tickets $8.50. Call 262-4277 or 261-4827.

READERS: Anyone wishing to read the Bible at the 9.30 or 11 o'clock services contact Bill Clapham H. 243-0330 or W. 260.0440.

HELP! The more life in a parish, the more help is needed. We always need some hours of typing and xeroxing. If three or four people were ready to offer, say, three hours a week, that would form a pool. That way if one person could not help at a particular time another could be contacted. The ultimate reward is in heaven but meanwhile there is free coffee and the odd cookie!

TELEPHONE ANSWERING MACHINE: As you may know we now have a telephone answering unit in Christ Church. One of its uses will be to announce details of the services over the weekend. There may be short periods during the week when the machine will be on when you phone. None of us find these machines particularly endearing but they make it possible sometimes for people to get at least some reply rather than none, and they do allow a message to be left that can be responded to. Isn't it ironic that as progress marches on so does the need for patience towards it!

SENIORS DAY OUT: Program for Seniors-first and third Wednesdays of the month. Starts 10.30 with Eucharist in the Chapel and includes lunch - transportation provided. For further info. call Peggy Stauft 243-6821 or Chris McLean 228-3281.

I shall never forget the day that I stood on the barren rock of Petra with its walls of blood-red rock.
Glancing up,
I saw a large bird soar out from a mountain crag.
Something dropped from its back like a pellet of lead.
In a moment the pellet unfolded,
and I saw a little bird stretching its wings to fly.

Before long, however, the uprush of wind proved too strong and the little bird, once more a stone in the sky, began to drop.
In an instant the mother bird swooped down and caught it on her back to bear it aloft for a second trial.

This time
the young bird sustained itself longer in flight; but once more it crumpled before the wind and began to drop.
But the ever-present mother saved it again for a third testing.
As before, the pellet dropped, the wings opened,
but this time the young bird flew off...

By Barnabas Ahern

As an eagle incites its nestlings forth
by hovering over its brood,
So God spread his wings to receive them and bore them up on his pinions.

together, it's possible

"If one part suffers, every part suffers with it, if one part is honored, every part rejoices with it."
1 Corinthians 12:26.

Suffering! Not a day passes in which we are not reminded repeatedly of suffering. Television and newspapers project images of the powerless, mutilated, starving and homeless. The repetition of these scenes can leave our senses numb and paralyzed. In the midst of this, God's Word reaffirms the sacred worth of each person, and declares that we are an interdependent community. In God's sight, no person is expendable, no one is more or less important because of status, wealth, color or creed.

The "Good News" for the world is that the church of Jesus Christ can offer healing and wholeness to persons, reaffirming the sacred worth of each person. For as one suffers, we all suffer.

As we allow ourselves to embrace the global community and provide the needed human and financial resources, persons who are suffering can find wholeness and dignity in the name of Christ.

Something can be done to narrow the vast disparity between the world of the rich and the poor. The church community, through its relief and development programs, can assist in bringing about this reality. Together it is possible.

"The King will reply, I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me."
Matthew 25:40.

When Christians say the Christ-life is in them, they do not mean simply something mental or moral. When they speak of being 'in Christ' or of Christ being 'in them', this is not simply a way of saying that they are thinking about Christ or copying Him. They mean that Christ is actually operating through them; that the whole mass of Christians are the physical organism through which Christ acts - that we are His fingers and muscles, the cells of His body.

+ + +

When you are asked for trust you may give it or withhold it; it is senseless to say that you will trust if you are given demonstrative certainty. There would be no room for trust if demonstration were given.

+ + +

Relying on God has to begin all over again every day as if nothing had yet been done.

+ + +

Nothing gives one a more spuriously good conscience than keeping rules, even if there has been a total absence of all real charity and faith.

1. On wings of wondrous majesty,
Bearing a virgin's crown,
From deepest heaven's halls of gold
Great Gabriel came down.
He passed the shining planets by,
To Nazareth he came,
And bowing low before a Queen
He spoke the Holy Name.

2. "All hail to thee, O favoured one,
Lady of light and grace;
The love that flows among the stars
Now looks upon thy face.
Such love as knowing no desire
Within thy womb shall flame,
And seed the child of sacred fire
To bear the Holy Name."

3. "My soul doth magnify the Lord,
God is my only joy,
That I with God in such accord
Should birth the sacred boy."
So high she sang and with such grace
As mortals never sing,
That all the wintertime of Earth
Was garlanded in Spring.

4. Then Gabriel, unfurling wings
Spanning the Milky Way,
Bespoke the Name above all names
Whom morning stars obey.
"He shall be great, a mighty God,
No ending to his fame,
Yet all shall drink his royal blood,
And Jesus is his name."

5. Since that far hour of wondrous time,
The child of Mary's womb
Has given us a love sublime,
Conquering Cross and tomb.
And we who once did crucify
To our eternal shame,
Now lift our song to glorify
His high and Holy Name.

What difference does a high level of spiritual commitment make in the life of the individual and of society as a whole?...

The findings we have recorded on spiritual commitment are dramatic and destroy the assertion that is sometimes made that deeply religious people tend to be self-satisfied, more interested in their own spiritual welfare than the good of their neighbours, socially apathetic, and even to some extent intolerant of persons who differ from them in terms of backgrounds and religious persuasions.

The fact is, the 12%, who fit our category of "highly spiritually committed", are a "breed apart" from the rest of the populace in at least four key respects:

1. They are more satisfied with their lot in life than are those who are less spiritually committed - and far happier. A total of 68% of the highly spiritually committed say they are "very happy", compared to 46% of the moderately spiritually committed, 39% of the moderately uncommitted, and 30% of the highly uncommitted.

2. They tend to place greater importance on family life than do persons in the less spiritually committed categories.

3. They tend to be more tolerant of persons of different races and religions than are those who are less spiritually committed.

4. They are vitally concerned about the betterment of society and are, for example, far more involved in charitable activities than are their counterparts. A total of 46% of the highly spiritually committed say they are presently working among the poor, the infirm and the elderly, compared to 36% among the moderately committed, 28% of the moderately uncommitted, and 22% of the highly uncommitted.

DIRE DAWA, ETHIOPIA

I feel ashamed now remembering that, when I first saw death among the children lying on the cold earth, I held my breath, lest I too inhale death. Close by, I noticed that others, much stronger than myself, touched, and even smiled at death. "See," one of them seemed to say to me "I can touch death, and life takes on more vigor in me to bring life to others."

Me? I was afraid to touch those small skeleton hands. All my knowledge of human development was useless at that moment when I faced death. So my mind started to rationalize. "What can you do anyway? You are just one person representing one organization. It has airlifted 30,000 tons of wheat flour to a storage place nearby. Then what? It's too late for most of the children, isn't it?"

The child nearby closed her eyes for the last time with a smile on her lips, still holding the hands of the lady who dared to defy death. The lady had managed to give something very precious to the child who had just died: "You are dying as a person," she told her, "and not as an animal."

The lady faced me. She read my thoughts. She told me: "You are wrong. Not everyone is near death here. With your help, many more children, their mothers and others can be saved." Why had I not realized it before? First fear, then rationalization: these are both instruments of death.

Let us do something now in Africa with our African brothers and sisters. There is still a little time left for many children to be fully restored to life. Will you act now? If so, you too can be a force of life.

An ordinary simple Christian kneels down to say his prayers. He is trying to get in touch with God. But if he is a Christian he knows that what is prompting him to pray is also God: God, so to speak, inside him. But he also knows that all his real knowledge of God comes through Christ, the Man who was God - that Christ is standing beside him, helping him to pray, praying for him. You see what is happening. God is the thing to which he is praying - the goal he is trying to reach. God is also the thing inside him which is pushing him on - the motive power. God is also the road or bridge along which he is being pushed to that goal. So that the whole threefold life of the three-personal Being is actually going on in that ordinary little bedroom where an ordinary man is saying his prayers. The man is being caught up into the higher kind of life - what I called Zoe or spiritual life: he is being pulled into God, by God, while still remaining himself.

From: Mere Christianity
by: C.S. Lewis

We do not even know how we ought to pray,
but ... the spirit himself is pleading for us;
and God,
who searches our inmost being,
knows what the spirit means.

THE DOORS

You asked me what I would like to have.
More than I would like to have knowledge,
more than I would like to have certainty,
I would like to have a door, opening

Into a wide field, filled with the songs of small birds, filled with light, filled with dancing and gladness.

And far across the field, another door, opening into summer, into wilderness,
a greening of imaginations.

And, finally, at a great distance, another door, opening, opening ...

Alex Noble

Jesus said, 'In truth, in very truth I tell you,
I am the door of the sheepfold. The sheep paid no heed to any who came before me, for these were all thieves and robbers. I am the door; anyone who comes into the fold through me shall be safe. He shall go in and out and shall find pasturage.'

GOD SPEAKS OF THE CHILDREN

Nothing is so beautiful as a child who falls asleep while saying its prayers, God says.
I tell you there is nothing so beautiful in the world
I have never seen anything so beautiful in the world.
And yet I have seen some beauty in the world
And I am judge of it. My Creation overflows with beauty.
My Creation overflows with marvels.
There are so many one doesn't know where to put them.
I have seen millions and millions of stars rolling at my feet like the sands of the sea.
I have seen days blazing like flames.
Summer days in June, in July, in August
I have seen winter evenings laid down like a cloak
I have seen summer evenings as calm and gentle as the descent of paradise
All sprinkled with stars.
I have seen the slopes of the Meuse and the churches which are my own houses.
And Paris and Rheims and Rouen and the cathedrals which are my own palaces and my own castles.
So beautiful that I shall keep them in Heaven.
I have seen the capital of the kingdom and Rome the capital of Christendom.
I have heard the singing of the Mass and of triumphant Vespers.
And I have seen those plains and valleys of France
Which are more beautiful than anything.

Well, I tell you, God says, I know nothing so beautiful in all the world
As a little child who falls asleep while saying his prayers
Under the wings of his Guardian Angel
And who laughs to the angels as he goes to sleep.

The Prayers of the People

Let us thank God for Christmas:
For this happy and exciting time of year,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
For Christmas trees and decorations,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
For fun with family and friends,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
For cards and presents and good food,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER.
For singing carols and listening to the Christmas story,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
For all these things which remind us of the coming of Jesus
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
For the gift of your Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ,
THANK YOU, LOVING FATHER
Let us remember those who do not have the things which make us happy; we remember this Christmas:
Those who are sad or suffering,
HELP THEM, FATHER
Those who are ill or handicapped,
HELP THEM, FATHER
Those who are poor and hungry,
HELP THEM, FATHER
Those who are alone or feel unwanted,
HELP THEM, FATHER
Heavenly Father, show us ways in which we may help those for whom we have prayed, for the sake of Jesus Christ. AMEN.
Thanksgiving and Consecration, Prayer Book page 78ff
During the administration of Communion, all the children, are welcome to come to the Altar Rail to receive Communion or a blessing.
Hymns during Communion: 400, 404, 414, 416
Lord's Prayer (said together)
Prayer after Communion: (said together)
Father, tonight you have united heaven and earth in sending your Son to take our human nature. Grant that we who have tasted heavenly things may daily increase in love. We ask this in the Name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
The Blessing

JESOUS AHATONHIA (Jesus is Born)

1. 'Twas in the moon of winter time,
When all the birds had fled,
That mighty Gitchi Manitou
Sent angel choirs instead;
Before their light the stars grew dim,
And wond'ring hunters heard the hymn:
Jesus your King is born, Jesus is born,
In excelsis gloria.

2. Within a lodge of broken bark
The tender Babe was found,
A ragged robe of rabbit skin
Enwrapped his beauty round;
But as the hunter braves drew nigh,
The angel-song rang loud and high.
Jesus your King is born, Jesus is born,
In excelsis gloria.

3. The earliest moon of winter-time
Is not so round and fair
As was the ring of glory on
The helpless Infant there.
The chiefs from far before him knelt
With gifts of fox and beaver-pelt.
Jesus your King is born, Jesus is born,
In excelsis gloria.

4. O children of the forest free,
O sons of Manitou,
The Holy Child of earth and heaven
Is born to-day for you.
Come kneel before the radiant Boy,
Who brings you beauty, peace, and joy.
Jesus your King is born, Jesus is born,
In excelsis gloria.

Children of Bethlehem, dreaming your childhood dreams;
Children of Bethlehem, brighter than moonlight beams.
Under the starlit sky someone has come to birth;
Glory to God on high, Peace to all on earth.

Children of Nazareth, shouting in childhood joy;
Children of Nazareth, who is the laughing boy?
Mother of God take heed, laughter will soon be still;
There is a road that leads up to a cruel hill.

You of Jerusalem, where was he crucified?
You of Jerusalem, there was a King who died.
He of us all the Head, This is his wondrous sign.
Flesh is our holy bread; Blood is our sacred wine.

We thank you, Lord our God, for creating the world and for preserving it until now.
We thank you for the regular return of day and night, and of the seasons, and for the dependability of nature and of time.
We thank you for memory, which enables us to build on the experience of the past;
for imagination, which admits us to a wider world than we could otherwise know; and for foresight, by which we plan for the future.
We thank you for your patience with the errors and sins of mankind:
you have neither wearied of us nor allowed us to ruin ourselves in self-destruction or utter degradation,
but have sent your Son Jesus Christ to break down the barriers between us and you and between us and each other, and to restore the broken unity of human life.

THE NATURE OF CHRISTIANITY

It is a serious thing to live in a society of possible gods and goddesses, to remember that the dullest and most uninteresting person you talk to may one day be a creature which, if you saw it now, you would be strongly tempted to worship, or else a horror and a corruption such as you meet, if at all, only in a nightmare ... You have never talked to a mere mortal. Nations, cultures, arts, civilization - these are mortal, and their life is to ours as the life of a gnat. But it is immortals whom we joke with, work with, marry, snub, and exploit - immortal horrors or everlasting splendours. This does not mean that we are to be perpetually solemn. We must play. But our merriment must be of that kind (and it is, in fact, the merriest kind) which exists between people who have, from the outset, taken each other seriously - no flippancy, no superiority, no presumption. And our charity must be a real and costly love, with deep feeling for the sins in spite of which we love the sinner - no mere tolerance or indulgence which parodies love as flippancy parodies merriment. Next to the Blessed Sacrament itself, your neighbour is the holiest object presented to your senses. If he is your Christian neighbour he is holy in almost the same way, for in him also Christ "vere latitat" - the glorifier and the glorified, Glory Himself, is truly hidden.

THIRD LESSON: ISAIAH 61: 1-4, 10 & 11

Through His prophet God proclaims the blessings of His promised Kingdom.

CAROL: JESUS CHRIST THE APPLE TREE
ELIZABETH POSTON

The tree of life my soul hath seen
Laden with fruit, and always green:
The trees of nature fruitless be Compared with Christ the apple tree.

His beauty doth all things excel:
By faith I know, but ne'er can tell
The glory which I now can see
In Jesus Christ the apple tree.

For happiness I long have sought,
And pleasure dearly I have bought:
I missed of all; but now I see
'Tis found in Christ the apple tree.

I'm weary with my former toil,
Here I will sit and rest awhile:
Under the shadow I will be,
Of Jesus Christ the apple tree.

This fruit doth make my soul to thrive,
It keeps my dying faith alive;
Which makes my soul in haste to be
With Jesus Christ the apple tree.

CAROL: HE CAME ALL SO STILL RICHARD ALDRIDGE

He came all so still where his mother was,
As dew in April that falleth on the grass.
He came all so still where his mother lay,
As dew in April that falleth,
that falleth on the spray.

He came all so still to his mother's bower,
As dew in April that falleth,
falleth on the flow'r.

Mother and maiden was never none but she;
Well may such a lady God's mother be,
God's mother be.

HYMN 391: On Jordan's Bank New Winchester

GOSPEL OF THE SALUTATION: LUKE 1: 26-23

The Angel Gabriel salutes the Blessed Virgin Mary.

THE SALUTATION CAROL: 15th Century arr.

VAUGHAN WILLIAMS

Nowell, Nowell, Nowell, - Nowell
This is the salutation of th'angel Gabriel.

Tidings true there become new,
Sent from the Trinity
By Gabriel to Nazareth.
City of Galilee
A clean maiden, a pure virgin,
By her humility
Shall now conceive the Person
Second in deity.

When he first presented was Before her fair visage,
In most demure and goodly wise
He did to her homage;
And said, 'Lady, from heav'n so high,
That Lordes heritage,
The which of thee-born would be
I am sent on message.

Hail, virgin celestial the meek'st that ever was!
Hail, temple of the Deity!
Hail, mirror of all grace!
Hail, virgin pure! I thee ensure Within a little space
Thou shalt conceive, and him receive
That shall bring great solace.'

Then bespake the maid again
And answered womanly,
"Whate'er my Lord commandeth me
I will obey truly.'
With 'Ecce sum humilima Ancilla Domini;
Secundum verbum tuum,'
She said, 'fiat mihi.'

Chorus

Come, Thou Redeemer of the earth,
And manifest thy virgin birth:
Let ev'ry age adoring fall;
Such birth befits the God of all.

Begotten of no human will,
But of the Spirit, thou art still
The Word of God in flesh arrayed,
The promised fruit to man displayed.

From God the Father he proceeds,
To God the Father back he speeds;
His course he runs to death and hell,
Returning on God's throne to dwell.

O equal to thy Father; thou!
Gird on thy fleshly mantle now;
The weakness of our mortal state
With deathless might invigorate.

The cradle here shall glitter bright,
And darkness breathe a newer light,
Where endless faith shall shine serene,
And twilight never intervene.

All laud, eternal Son, to thee
Whose advent sets thy people free,
Whom with the Father we adore,
And Holy Ghost for evermore.

(Congregation to sit)

FIRST LESSON: ISAIAH 6: 1-11

God commissions Isaiah to be the Prophet of the Advent.

SANCTUS (Missa Brevis) KENNETH LEIGHTON

Holy, holy, holy, Lord God of hosts; heaven and earth are full of thy glory: Glory be to thee, O Lord most High.

CAROL: A GREAT AND MIGHTY WONDER - MICHAEL PRAETORIUS

A great and mighty wonder,
A full and holy cure.
The Virgin bears the Infant with virgin honour pure.

"Repeat the hymn again!
To God on high be glory
And peace on earth to men!"

The Word becomes incarnate
And yet remains on high!
And Cherubim sing anthems
To shepherds from the sky.
"Repeat the hymn again! etc."

Since all he comes to ransom,
By all be he adored,
The infant born in Bethl'em
The Saviour and the Lord.
"Repeat the hymn again! etc."

CHORALE: SLEEPERS, WAKE! FELIX MENDELSSOHN

Sleepers, wake! a voice is calling,
It is the watchman on the walls:
Thou City of Jerusalem!
For lo! the Bridegroom comes!
Arise, and take your lamps!
Hallelujah! Awake!
His kingdom is at hand!
Go forth, go forth to meet your Lord!

(congregation to sit)

GOSPEL OF THE ADVENT: MATTHEW 1: 18-23

St. Matthew tells of the coming birth of Jesus.

CAROLE: RESONEMUS LAUDIBUS

14TH CENTURY ARRANGEMENT BY DAVID WILLCOCKS

Let us make the church resound with the rejoicing praise of the faithful.
He whom Mary bore hath appeared.

God created man in His own image
God created all things, heaven, earth, seas and all that is born.

Therefore let our gathering bless the Lord with strings and organ,
And render thanks to the same
God who gives us pardon and joy.

VESPER RESPONSORY (said): JUDEA ET JERUSALEM

Priest: Judah and Jerusalem, fear not, nor be dismayed; (the people continue together with him). To-morrow go ye forth, and the Lord, he with be with you.

Priest: Stand ye still, and ye shall see the salvation of the Lord.

People: To-morrow go ye forth, and the Lord, he will be with you.

Priest: Let us pray

(all kneel)

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name,
thy kingdom come, thy will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
and forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive them that trespass against us;
and lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever and ever.

Amen

V. We wait for thy loving kindness, O Lord.

R. In the midst of thy temple.

COLLECT FOR CHRISTMAS EVE:

CHRIST CHURCH - ELBOW PARK - CALGARY

THE FIRST SUNDAY IN ADVENT
December 2, 1984
7.30 p.m.

AN ADVENT PROCESSION WITH CAROLS

In the old Liturgies of the Church, the Advent Offices made a very vivid preparation for the coming of Our Lord to earth. This Carol Service, which is taken largely from the one used in King's College, Cambridge, is designed to include as many of these features as possible. Properly, the choir should be moving in Procession from West to East, from 'Darkness to Light', but the short length of our Nave only allows us to do this symbolically. First, from the chancel gallery the ancient Responsory of Advent Sunday Matins, and a Carol, announce the hope of the Messiah. After a Bidding Prayer, the choir enters, singing St. Ambrose's great hymn, "Come, thou Redeemer of the earth". Prophetic lections alternate with carols. Finally the Gospel of the Redemption replaces the Prophets and the whole congregation stands to say with the Minister the last Responsory of Advent, and to sing the great Advent hymn, "O come, Emmanuel".

Priest: Let us pray

O God, who makest us glad with the yearly expectation of thy coming: Grant that we, who with joy receive thy only-begotten Son as our Redeemer, may without fear behold him when he shall come to be our Judge, even Thy Son our Lord Jesus Christ; who liveth and reigneth with thee and the Holy Ghost, one God, World without end.

Amen

ANTHEM: REJOICE IN THE LORD ALWAY ANON (16TH C)

Rejoice in the Lord alway,
and again I say rejoice,
Let your softness be known unto all men:
The Lord is e'en at hand.
Be careful for nothing:
But in all prayer and supplication, let your petitions be manifest unto God,
with giving of thanks.
And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, keep your hearts amd minds through Christ Jesu.

Amen

The people who hanged Christ never, to do them justice, accused Him of being a bore - on the contrary; they thought Him too dynamic to be safe. It has been left for later generations to muffle up that shattering personality and surround Him with an atmosphere of tedium. We have very efficiently pared the claws of the Lion of Judah, certified Him "meek and mild," and recommended Him as a fitting household pet for pale curates and pious old ladies. To those who knew Him, however, He in no way suggested a milk-and-water person; they objected to Him as a dangerous firebrand. True, He was tender to the unfortunate, patient with honest inquirers, and humble before Heaven; but He insulted respectable clergymen by calling them hypocrites; He referred to King Herod as "that fox"; He went to parties in disreputable company and was looked upon as a "gluttonous man and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners"; He assaulted indignant tradesmen and threw them and their belongings out of the Temple; He drove a coach-and-horses through a number of sacrosanct and hoary regulations; He cured diseases by any means that came handy, with a shocking casualness in the matter of other people's pigs and property; He showed no proper deference for wealth or social position; when confronted with neat dialectical traps, He displayed a paradoxical humour that affronted serious-minded people, and He retorted by asking disagreeably searching questions that could not be answered by rule of thumb. He was emphatically not a dull man in His human lifetime, and if He was God, there can be nothing dull about God either. But He had "a daily beauty in His life that made us ugly," and officialdom felt that the established order of things would be more secure without Him. So they did away with God in the name of peace and quietness.

There is a game we play sometimes. If we could somehow meet one of the great ones of history, which one would we choose? Would it be Shakespeare, maybe, because nobody knew better than he the Hamlet of us and the Ophelia of us, nobody knew better than he this midsummer night's dream of a darkly enchanted world. Or maybe it would be Abraham Lincoln, with feet no less of clay than our own feet, but whose face, in those last great photographs, seems somehow to have not only all of human suffering in it but traces of goodness and compassion that seem almost more than human. Or maybe it would be Saint Joan, the Maid of Orleans, whose very weakness was her strength, her innocence her armor, lighting up the dark skies of the fifteenth century like a star. But the great ones of the world, if you and I were to meet them, would have nothing to give us but their greatness, nothing to ask of us but our admiration; and we would go to such a meeting full of awe to be sure but knowing more or less what to expect. In the saints and heroes of the past, we would find someone greater than we are, more human, more complete, but cut from the same cloth as we are after all, someone who was as often lost, as full of doubt, as full of hope, waiting no less than you and I wait for we're not sure what to deliver us as last.

The question is, what are we defending, our enemies and we? Well, we are defending our cities and towns. We are defending our homes, our children. We are defending the welfare of our people and the traditions of our fathers. An so of course are they. The tragic irony, of course, is that all these precious things we and our enemies are both defending are threatened by nothing so much as by the very process we use to defend them.

A nation has only so much money to spend, so much time, so much energy, so much ingenuity, to spend, and as the years go by we and our enemies are both spending so much of all of these things on the great instruments of death that we have less and less to spend on the things that make our lives worth even living let alone worth dying for: less and less to spend on hospitals and housing and schools, on feeding our children, on halting the decay of our cities, on works of compassion. We are defending our very lives as nations, we believe, but what happens to the quality of that life, the heart and genius of that life, when such matters as these are neglected? What are we and our enemies doing to defend not just our borders but the only real treasure that lies inside those borders, which is what makes us human and humane as peoples? We preserve such peace as we have by a balance of terror, as we call it - each side so terrified by the other's growing might that neither side dares strike the first blow - but what sort of peace can there be when terror is at the heart of it? And if people say that such talk as this is only preachers' talk, soft-headed, unrealistic, I wonder if anything can be more unrealistic than to suppose that the arsenals of terror that we and our enemies are both amassing won't one day be used; and I wonder if anything can be more unrealistic than to think that once the great weapons are used, there will be any nations, any borders, any cities, any children, any life, any anything left to defend or worth defending.

'The Kingdom of Heaven', said the Lord Christ, 'is among you.' But what, precisely, is the Kingdom of Heaven? You cannot point to existing specimens, saying, 'Lo, here!' or 'Lo, there!' You can only experience it. But what is it like, so that when we experience it we may recognize it? Well, it is a change, like being born again and re-learning everything from the start. It is secret, living power - like yeast. It is something that grows, like seed. It is precious like buried treasure, like rich pearl, and you have to pay for it. It is a sharp cleavage through the rich jumble of things which life presents like fish and rubbish in a draw-net, like wheat and tares; like wisdom and folly; and it carries with it a kind of menacing finality; it is new, yet in a sense it was always there - like turning out a cupboard and finding there your own childhood as well as your present self; it makes demands, it is like an invitation to a royal banquet - gratifying, but not to be disregarded, and you have to live up to it; where it is equal, it seems unjust, where it is just it is clearly not equal - as with the single pound, the diverse talents, the labourers in the vineyard, you have what you bargained for; it knows no compromise between an uncalculating mercy and a terrible justice - like the unmerciful servant, you get what you give; it is helpless in your hands like the King's Son, but if you slay it, it will judge you; it was from the foundations of the world; it is to come; it is here and now; it is within you. It is recorded that the multitude sometimes failed to understand.

MAKING FRIENDS WITH TIME

Robert McAfee Brown

Making friends with time is not an occupation for old folks, it is an occupation for anyone, at any time, who wants life to be fuller rather than emptier.

I have no control over the quantity of life still at my disposal, however, I do have considerable control over the quality of life at my disposal. I could conceivably live 40 more dull and unimaginative years, merely trying to survive and beat the actuarial tables. Or I might live four more years, invested with a zest and excitement and fulfillment that would make their relatively short duration much more significant and satisfying than a timespan 10 times that long.

Solution: Stop wasting the already precious moments griping about the passage of time, and get on with the affirmation of the present moments as grace-filled. Full of grace. Gifts.

A few details of the solution: Don't wait for gifts tomorrow, recognize them today, since they are all about us. There are times to be redeemed, a world to be transformed, yes; but there are also events to be embraced, little events as well as big ones, and persons to be given affirmation and affection. Although the quantity of those moments is finite, the quality those moments can have is infinite. We embrace them when we affirm the small things that give time its blessed quality--a glance, a sound, a touch, a tiny ritual. Such things are complete in themselves. But there is a further blessedness. They not only invest the now with preciousness in its own right. They also give a new quality to the moments that precede and follow the now--an eternity momentarily glimpsed and forever retrievable through another gift, memory.

ALONE WITH YOURSELF

A man came to Dr. Carl Jung suffering from a nervous breakdown. The story he told was a simple one, familiar to so many of us; he had been working fourteen hours a day and his nerves were shot. Jung's instructions were also quite simple. He was to work only eight hours and then go home and spend the evening quietly in his study, all alone. Since the man was in real agony, he made up his mind to follow the prescription exactly. After he had worked his eight hours, he returned home, had his supper, and then went into his study and closed the door. And there he stayed for several hours. He played a few Chopin Etudes and finished a Hermann Hesse novel. The next day was the same, except that during his time alone he read Thomas Mann and played a Mozart sonata. On the following morning he went back to see Dr. Jung who asked him how he felt.

When he complained that he was no better, Jung inquired just what he had done, and heard the recital. "But you didn't understand," Dr. Jung told him. "I didn't want you with Hermann Hesse or Thomas Mann, or even Mozart and Chopin. I wanted you to be all alone with yourself." At this the poor man looked terrified and exclaimed, "Oh! but I can't think of any worse company." To which Dr. Jung gave his classic reply: "and yet this is the self you inflict on other people fourteen hours a day."

Lear: What art thou?
Kent: A very honest-hearted fellow, and as poor as the King
Lear: If thou be'st as poor for a subject as he's for a king, thou art poor enough. What wouldst thou?
Kent: Service
Lear: Who wouldst thou serve?
Kent: You.
Lear: Dost thou know me, fellow?
Kent No sir; but you have that in your countenance which I would fain call master.
Lear: What's that?
Kent: Authority.
Lear: What services canst thou do?
Kent: I can keep honest counsel, ride, run, mar a curious tale in telling it, and deliver a plain message bluntly. That which ordinary men are fit for, I am qualified in; and the best of me is diligence.
Lear: How old art thou?
Kent: Not so young, sir, to love a woman for singing, nor so old to dote on her for anything: I have years on my back forty-eight.
Lear: Follow me; thou shalt serve me.

William Shakespear (1564-1616):'King Lear', I, iv, 9

O Thou who art
the light of the minds that know Thee,
the joy of the hearts that love Thee,
the strength of the wills that serve Thee;
teach us
so to know Thee that we may truly love Thee,
so to love Thee that we may fully serve Thee, whom to serve is perfect freedom,
Jesus Christ Our Lord.

Nothing worth doing is completed in our lifetime,
therefore we must be saved by hope.

Nothing true or beautiful makes complete sense in any context of history, therefore we must be saved by faith.

Nothing we do, no matter how virtuous,
can be accomplished alone,
therefore we are saved by love.

I recommend strongly that every executive set aside a little time...to decide where he or she is going, what are his or her priorities,

what are his or her ambitions.
Do you know whether you are going in the right direction, and most of all,
where do you want to get?

LOVE GOD

We take the words so much for granted that we hardly stop to wonder where they are seeking to take us. Above all else, the words say, you shall love - not, first your neighbor as yourself because that is second and comes later. On the contrary, it is God you shall love first before you love anything else, and you shall love him with all that you are and all that you have it in you to become - whatever that means, whatever that involves. The words don't explain. They just proclaim and command.

Loving our neighbors, loving each other, is easier to talk about, easier even to do. God knows we are none of us much good at it much of the time, but at least we can see each other with our eyes. We can see each other's faces especially, and every once in a while, if we have our eyes open, we can see something of what is within those faces. Even with strangers sometimes - people we pass on the street or find sitting across from us in a bus or a waiting room; even sometimes with people we know very well but seldom take the trouble really to look at - we see something that stops us in our tracks. We catch a glimpse of some unexpected beauty or pain or need in another's face, or maybe we just notice the tilt of an old man's cap, or the way a young woman rests her cheek on the palm of her hand, or the way a child looks out the window at the rain; and for a moment, then, our heart goes out to them in ways too deep for words. We would love them right if we only could. We could love them truly and forever if we only knew how. And even as things are, we love them maybe as much as we are capable of loving anybody.

But so much of our loving them has to do with seeing them - these strangers who are sometimes so precious, these precious ones who are sometimes such strangers - whereas the God we are commanded to love with all our hearts, souls, might, is the one we cannot see at all.

Let me speak for a moment of once when I wandered in the wilderness. It was a strange city three thousand miles from home. In a hospital there was somebody I loved as much as I have ever loved anybody, and she was in danger of dying. Apparently not even death itself was as terrifying to her as life was, and for that reason she was fighting against her own healing. Day after day my wife and I drove to the hospital to see her, parked the car, went up in the elevator. We played games with her. We rubbed her back. We read aloud. She weighed less as a young woman than she had as a child. We had known her since the day she was born, but if we had passed her in the corridor, we wouldn't have been able to recognize her.

When the worst finally happens, or almost happens, a kind of peace comes. I had passed beyond grief, all but beyond hope, and it was there, in that wilderness, that for the first time in my life I caught sight of something of what it must be like to love God truly. It was only a glimpse, but it was like stumbling on fresh water in the desert, like remembering something so huge and extraordinary that my memory had been unable to contain it. Though God was nowhere to be clearly seen, nowhere to be clearly heard, I had to be near him - even in the elevator riding up to her floor, even walking down the corridor to the one door among all those doors that had her name taped on it. I loved him because there was nothing else left. I loved him because he seemed to have made himself as helpless in his might as I was in my helplessness. For the first time in my life I caught a glimpse of what it must be like to love God truly, for his own sake, to love him no matter what. If I loved him with less than all my heart, soul, might, I loved him with at least as much of them as I had left for loving anything.

I remember a spring or so ago walking with a friend through a stand of maple trees at sugaring time. The sap buckets were hung from the trees, and if you were quiet, you could hear the sap dripping into them: all through the woods, if you kept still, you could hear the hushed drip-dropping of the sap into a thousand buckets or more hung out in the early spring woods with the sun coming down in long shafts through the trees. The sap of a maple is like rainwater, very soft, and almost without taste except for the faintest tinge of sweetness to it, and when my friend said he'd never tried it, I offered to give him a taste. I had to unhook the bucket from the tap to hold it for him, and when he bent his head to drink from it, I tipped the bucket down to his lips, and just as he was about to take a sip, he looked up at me and said, "I have a feeling you ought to be saying some words."

Well, my friend is no more or less religious than the next person, and we'd been chattering on about nothing in particular as we walked along until just at that moment as I tipped the bucket to his lips, he said what he said, and said it partly as a joke. He had a feeling I should be saying some words, he said, as I tipped the bucket to his lips so he could taste for the first time the taste of the lifeblood of a tree. And of course for a moment those unsaid words fell through the air of those woods like the shafts of sun, and it was no joke because the whole place became another place or became more deeply the place it truly was; and he and I became different, something happened for a second to the air around us and between us. It was not much and lasted only for a moment before it was gone. But it happened - this glimpse of something dimly seen, dimly heard, this sense of something deeply hidden.

THIRTEENTH SUNDAY OF PENTECOST

HOMECOMING SUNDAY

September 9, 1984

NOTICES

CHRIST CHURCH MATTERS

FAMILY CHOIR

In response to some wishes expressed during the parish planning meetings, we have decided to start a family choir, which will be open to those who would like to participate more actively in the music of the church. Everyone of all age groups is welcome, and there will be no auditions.

Practices will be held twice a month, starting on Wednesday, September 26th, in the choir room. It is suggested that the choir would lead the singing at one service each month, until May of next year.

For further information, please call Margaret Newman (243-6506) or John Searchfield (284-2368).

QUIET DAY

Archbishop David Somerville, retired Bishop of Vancouver, will lead us in the first of our series of quiet days, focussing on the subject of prayer. The day will start with coffee/tea and a muffin at 9.30 a.m. and consist of four short talks each followed by discussion with a pause for lunch at 12. The day will conclude with the Eucharist from 2 to 2.30 p.m. If you can attend call Sue Johnsen at 243-1030 and give her your name. Cost for lunch and other expenses, $5 per person.

CHRIST CHURCH HASTINOTES: available from the office or at coffee hour. Beautifully done. 12 in a packet. Cost $5.

THE CHERUB NURSERY (children ages 5 days - 2 years) is looking for volunteers to babysit for both the 9.30 and 11 a.m. services. The more people there are to assist, the fewer times each person has to babysit. If you are interested in helping us in this capacity, please contact Joan Hanna (259-8896).

THE CHRIST CHURCH BRIDGE MARATHON is in need of a few more couples who play bridge. If you would like to join a pleasant group who play about once every two weeks in their homes, or to have more information about them, please call Bunny Iversen 255-0947.

GOING AWAY?

Wendy Leitch, our Christian Education Co-ordinator, is having her home renovated. Anyone wishing Wendy and family to care for their home while away (October - December) please call Wendy at 243-0103 or 246-1695.

A.C.W. Deanery Meeting for all Women Oct. 2, 1984 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. at St. Stephen's church, Eu-harist, Business and Panel discussion. Nursery if needed (call Mrs. Duncan 289-8034). If attending call Mrs. Johns 289-7665 by Sept. 27.

A.C.W. Quiet Day for all women at Mount St. Francis, Cochrane Wednesday Sept. 26, 9.30 - 3.30. Cost $15.00. If attending call Mrs. Johns 289-7665 not later than Sept. 16.

I AM IN HOSPITAL: I really want to worship in the chapel, but I need a hand. The door opens and someone comes in to do just that. That someone could be you. It would take about 3 hours of your life every two months, and be infinitely rewarding. Interested? If so phone Jane Raaby, 243-7883.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

OLDER VOLUNTEERS NEEDED: if you are over age 65, your help is needed to take part in a study of mood, control, and life events in the elderly. It will take approximately 1 hour to answer a questionnaire. The study is being conducted by a graduate student in social work as part of her master's degree thesis. If interested please sign the notice on the bulletin board or telephone Peggy Stauft 243-6821 (evenings).

THE HOLY CROSS HOSPITAL wishes to recruit people now who would like to share their gifts of time and caring with us, and who will be available to start volunteering in one of the following programs in September:

Visiting and Patient Services
Admitting Occupational Therapy
Gift Shop

The time commitment would probably be 2 - 3 hours on a once a week basis, during the day or early evening. An orientation and educational program is provided. Call Liz 228-8141 for details.

FOOTHILLS HOSPITAL: There are two opportunities for ministry at the Foothills Hospital. The first is as a member of a Pastoral Care Team. Ten weeks of preparation, one evening per week, will begin September 26th. Persons completing the training program will be invited to participate in the Anglican visiting ministry in the Foothills Hospital. Secondly, volunteers to do clerical work are needed to facilitate the Anglican pastoral ministry at the Hospital. Volunteers are needed NOW. Interested persons are asked to call Rev. Gordon Jackson, the Anglican Chaplain at 270-1410 (day) or 280-4991 (evenings).

WHAT'S ON?

ANGLICAN MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER. OCT. 19-21 - a weekend for married couples of any age who wish to enrich their marriage, their relationship with God and the world around them. For registration or more information, phone Mike & Barb Morin (287-0259)

LAST MINUTE REGISTRATION FOR THEOLOGY ALIVE (18-21 Oct.) should be telephoned to Lynn Odland 245-3587.

RICHARD MURIGANDE knows more than anybody else about the refugee agony in Africa. You could meet him at a World Development seminar on Oct. 26 & 27 at the Lacombe Centre. For further details see the notice board or phone 243-0103.

OPPORTUNITY '45' 1225A Kensington Road N.W., a government funded agency that tries to bring jobs and seekers together and tries to provide skilled counselling in the job-search effort.

- IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYER please list any job with OPPORTUNITY '45' so that an over 45 person may apply.

- IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYEE now seeking work (and are over 45) please register with OPPORTUNITY '45'.

Service is free to both employer and employee - Telephone 283-8002.

Wherefore should the nations say, 'Where is now their God?'
As for our God, he is in heaven: he hath done whatsoever pleased him.

Their idols are silver and gold, even the work of men's hands.
They have mouths, and speak not: eyes have they, and see not.
They have ears, and hear not: noses have they, and smell not.
They have hands, and handle not; feet have they and walk not: neither speak they through their throat.
They that make them are like unto them; and so are all such as put their trust in them.
But thou, house of Israel, trust thou in the Lord: he is their succour and defence.
Ye house of Aaron, put your trust in the Lord: he is their helper and defender.
Ye that fear the Lord, put your trust in the Lord: he is their helper and defender.

The parish means a body of people drawn and held together in a spirit that prompts the members to care for, respect and love each other. It is the embodiment in any place of the I-in-You, You-in-Me relationship which Christ prayed for. Larger than the family which has its own special intimacies and responsibilities, the parish so conceived has the job of nurturing all its members that they may, in New Testament terms, grow up to their full stature in Christ. Something begun in the life of the family is to be carried into the next necessary stage of personal development. Small enough to permit a true understanding to grow up between its members such a body must extend their lives by confronting them with diversities of character and achievement, encouraging each person to be himself, relating each to a common life that is enriched by that which each supplies and yet is more than the sum of their gifts.

Such a body would ever be seeking to do two kinds of work the one within itself in relating its members ever more genuinely to each other in love, the other in shaping a common attitude towards the life of the world in which it is set. Learning to speak the truth together in love, its members would form a community not withdrawn from but actively engaged with the world, and experiencing in an ever-deepening fashion a communion of transcendent character. It would see itself as the Church of Christ yet be ready to greet and work with others, sharing as far as it could the resources which it possessed. It would at all times be seeking with expectant hope to be able to experience more of the common life in the Body of Christ. Its prayer would be the quite natural breathing of the body thus engaged.

Faith is not just conformity. It is life. It embraces all the realms of life, penetrating into the most mysterious and inaccessible depths not only of our unknown spiritual being but even of God's own hidden essence and love. Faith, then, is the only way of opening up the true depths of reality, even of our own reality. Until we yield ourselves to God in the consent of total belief, we must inevitably remain strangers to ourselves, exiles from ourselves, because we are excluded from the most meaningful depths of our own being: those which remain obscure and unknown because they are too simple and too deep to be attained by reason.

Thomas Merton

I slept and dreamt
That life was joy
I awoke and saw
That life was duty
I acted and behold
Duty was joy.

Not long ago I listened to an astrophysicist talk fascinatingly about the extraordinary strides science has made in understanding such things as the origin of the universe, the nature of matter, the relationship of space to time, and he spoke with such conviction and authority that I found myself asking him finally if he could conceive of a time, maybe a hundred years hence, when all his answers to these great questions might look as primitive and inadequate as the theories of, say, medical science a hundred years ago look to us now. His reply was unabashed. He said that as far as he was concerned, these answers that modern science has reached are final answers, and all we need now is time and money enough to continue research into their ramifications and implications. Nobody could be less qualified than I am to pass judgment on the findings of science at any level, but because I know that, like all answers, these scientific answers are expressed in words and in numbers, which I take to be only another form of words, I simply cannot believe them to be final. It is as impossible for me to believe that the words even of scientific genius can say all there is to say about the origin of the universe as it is impossible for me to believe that the words even of Sophocles or Shakespeare can say all there is to say about human tragedy or the words even of Jesus Christ can say all there is to say about God and about our lives under God. Part, at least, of what I believe the New Testament means by calling Jesus himself the Word of God is that in the final analysis not even the most authentic and inspired words he ever spoke could exhaust the mystery he came to reveal, and that when he proclaimed not "What I say is the truth" but instead, "I am the truth," he meant, among other things, that the truth cannot be fully caught in any expression of the truth in words but only in the great eloquence and complexity and simplicity of his own life.

Perhaps in the end our own story and Jesus' story are the same story. "Cleave the wood, I am there. Lift up the stone, and you will find me there." To cleave the truth of our own lives, to lift and look beneath our own stories, is to see glimmers at least of his life, of his life struggling to come alive in our lives, his story whispering like a song through the babble and drone of ours. Where he is strong, we are weak, God knows. Where he is faithful, we are what we are. Where he opens himself to the worst the world can do, for the sake of the best the world can be, we arm ourselves against the world with the world's hard armor for our own sweet sakes. Our stories are at best a parody of his story...yet they meet as well as diverge, our stories and his...

We have it in us to be Christs to each other and maybe in some unimaginable way to God too - that's what we have to tell finally. We have it in us to work miracles of love and healing as well as to have them worked upon us. We have it in us to bless with him and forgive with him and heal with him and once in a while maybe even to grieve with some measure of his rejoicing at another's joy almost as it if were our own. And who knows but that in the end, by God's mercy, the two stories will converge for good and all, and though we would never have had the courage or the faith or the wit to die for him any more than we have ever managed to live for him very well either, his story will come true in us at last. And in the meantime, this side of Paradise, it is our business (not, like so many, peddlers of God's word but as men and women of sincerity) to speak with our hearts (which is what sincerity means) and to bear witness to, and live out of, and live toward, and live by, the true word of his holy story as it seeks to stammer itself forth through the holy stories of us all.

We are all such escape artists, you and I. We don't like to get too serious about things, especially about ourselves. When we are with other people, we are apt to talk about almost anything under the sun except for what really matters to us, except for our own lives, except for what is going on inside our own skins. We pass the time of day. We chatter. We hold each other at bay, keep our distance from each other even when God knows it is precisely each other that we desperately need.

And it is the same thing when we are alone. Let's say it is late evening and everybody else has gone away or gone to bed. The time is ripe for looking back over the day, the week, the year, and trying to figure out where we have come from and where we are going to, for sifting through the things we have done and things we have left undone for a clue to who we are and who, for better or worse, we are becoming. But again and again we avoid the long thoughts. We turn on the television maybe. We pick up a newspaper or a book. We find some chore to do that could easily wait for the next day. We cling to the present out of wariness of the past. We cling to the surface out of fear of what lies beneath the surface. And why not, after all? We get tired. We get confused. We need such escape as we can find. But there is a deeper need yet, I think, and that is the need - not all the time, surely, but from time to time - to enter that still room within us all where the past lives on as part of the present, where the dead are alive again, where we are most alive ourselves to the long journeys of our lives with all their twistings and turnings and to where our journeys have brought us. The name of the room is Remember - the room where with patience, with charity, with quietness of heart, we remember consciously to remember the lives we have lived.

We have survived, you and I. Maybe that is at the heart of our remembering. After twenty years, forty years, sixty years or eighty, we have made it to this year, this day. We needn't have made it. There were times we never thought we would and nearly didn't. There were times we almost hoped we wouldn't, were ready to give the whole thing up. Each must speak for himself, for herself, but I can say for myself that I have seen sorrow and pain enough to turn the heart to stone. Who hasn't? Many times I have chosen the wrong road, or the right road for the wrong reason. Many times I have loved the people I love too much for either their good or mine, and others I might have loved I have missed loving and lost. I have followed too much the devices and desires of my own heart, as the old prayer goes, yet often when my heart called out to me to be brave, to be kind, to be honest, I have not followed at all.

To remember my life is to remember countless times when I might have given up, gone under, when humanly speaking I might have gotten lost beyond the power of any to find me. But I didn't. I have not given up. And each of you, with all the memories you have and the tales you could tell, you also have not given up. You also are survivors and are here. And what does that tell us, our surviving? It tells us that weak as we are, a strength beyond our strength has pulled us through at least this far, at least to this day. Foolish as we are, a wisdom beyond our wisdom has flickered up just often enough to light us if not to the right path through the forest, at least to a path that leads forward, that is bearable. Faint of heart as we are, a love beyond our power to love has kept our hearts alive.

this marvellous wealth which is youth
Help young people!
They possess the inexhaustible wealth of the future.
Do not allow an easy life to corrupt them
Nor difficulties to quench their spirit.
Free them from the worst danger of all -
That of getting used to being old within themselves
And only young on the outside.

We often divide prayer up into departments: meditation or contemplation, for instance, is one department while intercession is another. From the practical point of view this division may often be necessary, but we should recognize that it is no more than a division of convenience. For our communion with God in prayer can never be for ourselves alone. I cannot enter into the presence of God only for my own sake, or only for the sake of my family, or only for the parish, or only for the Anglican communion, or only for human beings. Being human I shall naturally and rightly be more concerned for the people close to me than for others. It is stupid to try to disguise this fact from myself. I must admit it in my prayers with gratitude as human closeness is a very precious gift of God and it means that I am inevitably more concerned for John and Betty than for the diocese of Bariaboolagar and Sekfi Tumdila, the bishop. At the same time it remains true that God's presence with me is for mankind and for the universe. In prayer I put myself deliberately in the presence of God's outgoing love, and when I thus receive His outgoing love I become its agent and distributor so that through me it goes outward to all things. True prayer is thus never a form of self-culture. If prayers make a person less interested in, less concerned about, less fellow-feeling with, the needs and agonies of the world, then there is something very wrong with that person's prayers. True prayer is always sacrificial in the sense that it is concerned to give and to surrender, not to get spiritual satisfactions in selfish disregard of others.

Only God is holy, just as only people are human. God's holiness is his Godness. To speak of anything else as holy is to say that it has something of God's mark upon it. Times, places, things, and people can all be holy, and when they are, they are usually not hard to recognize.

One holy place I know is a workshop attached to a barn. There is a wood-burning stove in it made out of an oil drum. There is a workbench, dark and dented, with shallow, crammed drawers behind one of which a cat lives. There is a girlie calendar on the wall, plus various lengths of chain and rope, shovels and rakes of different sizes and shapes, some wornout jackets and caps on pegs, an electric clock that doesn't keep time. On the workbench are two small plug-in radios both of which have serious things wrong with them. There are several metal boxes full of wrenches, and a bench saw. There are a couple of chairs with rungs missing. There is an old yellow bulldozer with its tracks caked with mud parked against one wall. The place smells mainly of engine oil and smoke - both wood smoke and pipe smoke. The windows are small and even on bright days what light there is comes through mainly in window-sized patches on the floor.

I have no idea why this place is holy, but you can tell it is the moment you set foot in it if you have an eye for that kind of thing. For reasons known only to God, it is one of the places he uses for sending his love to the world through.

JOY

There is not one of us whose life has not already been touched somewhere with joy. Yet, ironically enough, these are likely to be precisely the moments that we do not associate with religion. (We tend to think that joy is not only not properly religious but that it is even the opposite of religion). We tend to think that religion is sitting stiff and antiseptic and a little bored and that joy is laughter and freedom and reaching out our arms to embrace the whole wide and preposterous earth which is so beautiful that sometimes it nearly breaks our hearts. We need to be reminded that at its heart Christianity is joy and that laughter and freedom and the reaching out of arms are the essence of it. We need to be reminded too that joy is not the same as happiness. Happiness is man-made - a happy home, a happy marriage, a happy relationship with our friends and within our jobs. We work for these things, and if we are careful and wise and lucky, we can usually achieve them. Happiness is one of the highest achievements of which we are capable, and when it is ours, we take credit for it, and properly so. But we never take credit for our moments of joy because we know that they are not man-made and that we are never really responsible for them. They come when they come. They are always sudden and quick and unrepeatable. The second thing is that joy is a mystery because it can happen anywhere, anytime, even under the most unpromising circumstances, even in the midst of suffering, with tears in its eyes. Even nailed to a tree.

A parable about diversity

"God and the angels had a splendid party one night, and at the end of it, God announced that he was going to create humankind. The angels warned him that there would be nothing but trouble from such a creation, but he insisted, and moreover decided to impress the angels with his abilities by creating humankind in a welter of diversity. "Look!" he cried, "at those flashing brown eyes, that crooked nose, that red hair. At that tall, thin creature, at that short, stocky one! How about that fantastically gutteral language or that beautiful melodic one? Look at all those weird, crazy customs! Look at all those costumes! Look at all those kinds of hair - straight, curly, kinky, light, dark, black, pink, brown and everything in between! Isn't it marvellous? What a joke!" The angels, though they were a bit uneasy, dutifully laughed long and loud and then went off to do other things. Next morning, God looked down on his magnificently diverse creation and discovered that human beings were fighting over the differences he had created for their enjoyment. "My God," he said (you should excuse the expression), "they did not get the joke!"

PARISH LIFE WORKSHOP - JUNE 3, 1984

On May 6, over 170 parishioners shared their ideas on 2 important questions at a special service:

How is Christ calling us as christians to-day?

and

How can Christ Church be a rich resource for you and for others?

If any members of the parish who were not present would like to respond in writing to these questions, please feel free to do so in the next few days. Your views are important.

A meeting was held on May 13 with Group leaders, Vestry and Clergy to discuss the input from the congregation. Summaries are being developed. This information is vital for the parish life workshop that will be held on Sunday, June 3 Please try to be there. More details next week.

For centuries men and women, when they come to marriage, have used a word of immense beauty and deep meaning. It is the word honour. It's use may vary slightly as liturgy evolves, but it always carries the same great weight of meaning. We are asked if we are prepared "to love and to honour," or we will say, "I honour you in the name of God." At such a moment one is promising to honour the full humanity of the other person, to give him or her the honour of being a complete and separate being other than oneself. One is promising that one will never regard the other as mere object, as an extension of one's own desires or purposes or ambitions. In a sentence, to promise to honour someone is to promise not to use them.

In every relationship he entered into, from the most intimate to the most casual, our Lord honoured other people. At no time is anyone made a stepping stone to someone else. Nobody is cultivated because they may be useful to his purposes. Nobody is seen as an object. Times without number we are guilty of this. We possess endless justification for our lapses. People come to be seen as "useful" to our cause. Since our cause is impeccable, there is of course no harm in our using them! This man should be cultivated because he can gain us entry into strategic places; this woman, because she is a potential donor to our cause. Naturally, we are not using such a person since what could be more for their good than to become involved in our good purposes? The line is a subtle one, and is easily and frequently crossed.

Our Lord ops for the development of relationships that call out, for certain men and women, their deepest loyalty. In every case it is obvious that they are sought for no reason other than themselves.

Meditations on the Divine Encounter

If our worshipping life is to have any vitality, it must bring us, even if only once in a lifetime, to a sense of Presence. It must confront us with the gulf between our own insufficiency and God's perfection. There must come at least one touching of the bread to the hand, one flowing of the chaliced red wine to the lips, to convict us of the immeasurable cost by which this gulf has been crossed, and with what great love.

Whether our desert place be a solitary room, a church pew, or a mountain top; a field, an ocean beach, or any other place of spiritual encounter; this we must seek, not obsessively but with the quiet assurance that it is for this encounter we are created. To kneel beside the burning bush, whenever or in whatever form it burns for us, is to find our most true selves, to come to our most true home. When we do so, one thing alone is certain. If that which we have encountered is true God, then we will not be allowed to dwell forever in the house to which we have come, even though it be truly ours, but we will be sent from it to do the will of him who brought us home.

If I Had My Life to Live Over

I would dare to make more mistakes next time
I'd relax
I would limber up
I would be sillier than I have been this trip
I wouldn't take things so seriously
I'd take more chances. I'd take more trips
I'd climb more mountains. I'd swim more rivers
I'd eat less beans, and more ice cream
You see, I'm one of those people who live sensibly and sanely year after year, day after day.
Oh, I've had my moments, and if I had to do it over again, I'd have more of them.
I've been one of those persons who never goes anywhere without a thermometer, a hot water bottle, a raincoat and a parachute.
If I had to do it over again, I would travel much lighter.
If I had to live my life over again, I'd go to more dances
I would ride more merry-go-rounds
I'd pick more daises!

CHRIST CHURCH COMMUNITY SPRING FAIR

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1984

Fred and Billie Scott are back at the helm and well organized for the biggest and best Spring Fair ever. Be sure to mark the date on your calendar and plan to help if you can, but be sure to attend.

There will be lots of good old-fashioned fun with games and foods and arts and crafts and entertainment, things for youngsters and oldsters and everyone in between. There will be books and records, plants, funny makeup for the kids and a magnificent dinner orchestrated by the Searchfield crew and their songsters.

PEDDLER'S LANE

Peddler's Lane will have an outstanding assortment of tremendous buys (furniture, rugs, household items, yard and sports equipment and collectibles) from all corners and basements of the world. It is a good place to sell useful things you no longer need. As an inducement to obtain high quality items, donors may indicate that they wish to receive back 50% of the sale proceeds, the other one half going to the Church in return for setting up, advertising, etc. Some people choose to give all the proceeds to the Church and are satisfied with a tax receipt for the actual donation.

Now is the time to start thinking about what latent treasures are stored in your home or garage. If you have large items, call us and we will be happy to pick up anything smaller than a baby grand. If you would like to assist in selling (whether or not you have items to contribute), please contact:

Post Communion Prayers & Blessing	pages 85 & 86
Hymn 451	Nicht so traurig

During the Hymn the Choir will go in procession to the gallery where they will sing Psalm 22 - Matthew Camidge (Anglican Chant) while the sanctuary of God's house is laid bare in preparation for Good Friday

TEXTS OF THE PROPERS:

Introit: He fed them also with the finest wheat flour, alleluia: and with honey from the rock hath he satisfied them, alleluia, alleluia, alleluia. Sing we merrily unto God our helper: make a cheerful noise unto the God of Jacob. Glory be ..... and to the Holy: As it was ... and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.

Gradual

The eyes of all wait upon thee, O Lord: and thou givest them their meat in due season. Thou openest thy hand: and fillest all things living with plenteousness.

Alleluia. Alleluia. Alleluia. My flesh is meat indeed, and my Blood is drink indeed: he that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

Offertory

The priests of the Lord do offer the offerings of the Lord, made by fire and the bread of their God: therefore they shall be holy unto their God, and not profane the Name of their God, alleluia.

Communion. As often as ye do eat of this Bread, and drink this cup: ye do show the Lord's death til he come. Wherefore, whosoever shall eat of this Bread, and drink of this Cup of the Lord unworthily: shall be guilty of the Body and Blood of the Lord, alleluia.

Some words of explanation

The Service tonight has a twofold purpose: (a) to give thanks to God for the Gift given to the Church on the first Maundy Thursday, the gift of the Eucharist made at the Last Supper; and (b) to prepare our hearts and minds for the observance of the most solemn day of the Christian Year, Good Friday. The first part of the Service, the Eucharist itself, is characterized by an atmosphere of joyful thanksgiving; we have attempted to emphasize this by the use of the traditional vestments in white, by dressing the altar in white, the colour of joy and thanksgiving. The Introit and Gradual, Offertory and Communion Sentences, with their joyful outbursts of Alleluia, the Gospel sung in the midst of the congregation, the use of Servers carrying candles in procession, the Communion Motet - all of these are symbols of the Church's deep sense of joyful thanksgiving as we recall liturgically the gift of this great Sacrament of love.

But we also remember that this gift was given in the shadow of Good Friday, in the shadow of the Cross; and so the Maundy Thursday liturgy ends on a very different note. After the Eucharist is over, the altar and sanctuary are solemnly stripped of all their ornaments, the lights are dimmed; all of this to prepare us for Good Friday, the day on which our Lord was stripped of his clothing, stripped of his human dignity, stripped of all outward signs of his divinity; the day on which "there was darkness over all the land". The service ends with the eloquent testimony of a darkened and barren sanctuary speaking to us of the events we shall be commemorating in the Church tomorrow.

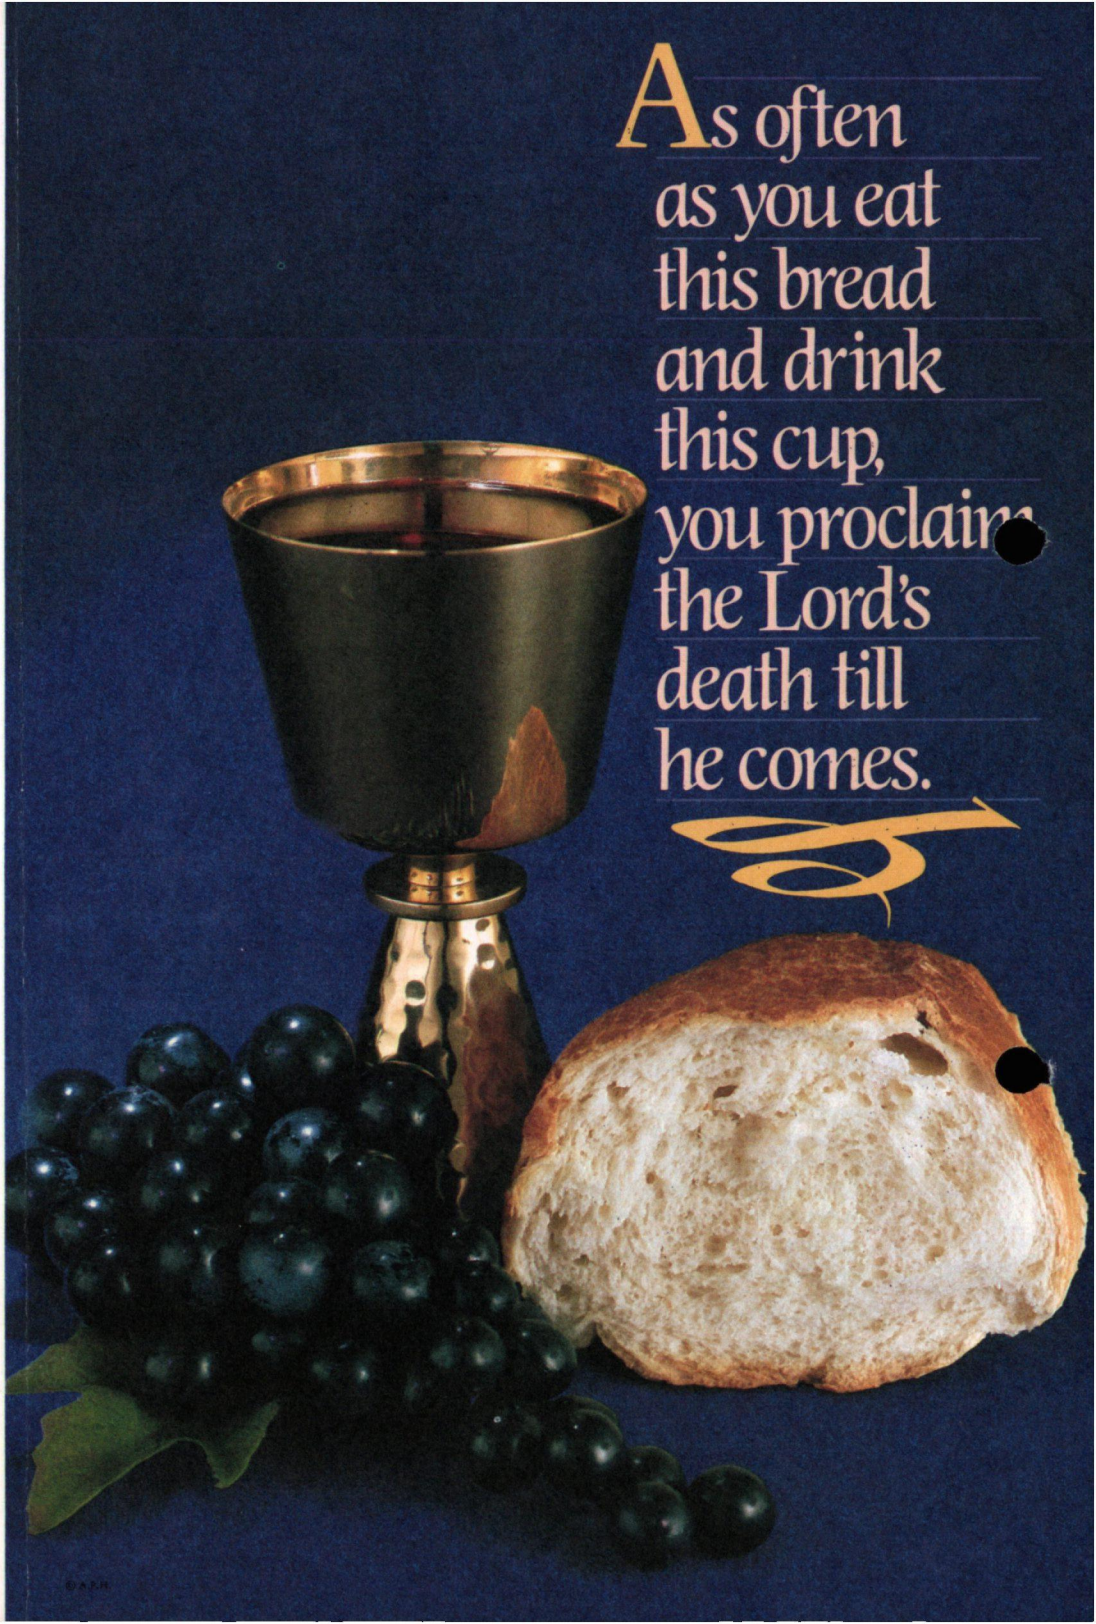

We ask you to leave the church this evening quietly.

To all of us in the community of Christ Church:

The nineteen eighties are a time when almost every community and institution has had to take stock, check priorities, decide about directions, choices, goals. We are no exception.

God has given this christian community rich resources. The varied personal gifts of each one of us, the financial gifts we choose to make, the skills and ideas, energy and time which we are prepared to offer, the spiritual journey each of us is experiencing, all add up to making Christ Church an instrument for God's purposes among ourselves and beyond us.

On Sunday, May 6th you are invited to share your thoughts about our parish's life. At 10 a.m. there will be the Parish Eucharist, then all of us will share our thinking in small groups until 1 p.m. That thinking will become the agenda for a parish life workshop on Sunday, June 3rd. More details about that later.

For now, can you share in May 6th? I very much hope so. Your thinking and committment is vital to our life together.

Blessings.

Priest: Lord, have mercy upon us.
People: Christ, have mercy upon us
Priest: Lord, have mercy upon us

Lord's Prayer
Hymn: 446 (Congregation sing vv. 1 & 5) Pange Lingua (Choir sings vv. 2 & 3 to a different translation;
v. 4 omitted)

FIRST MEDITATION

First Gospel: And the first day of unleavened bread.
Second Gospel: And they came to a place which was named Gethsemane.

SECOND MEDITATION

Hymn: 101 Horsley
Third Gospel: And they led Jesus away to the high priest.
Fourth Gospel: And straightway in the morning.
Offering Hymn: 109 Rockingham

THIRD MEDITATION

Fifth Gospel: And they bring Him into the place Golgotha.

All kneel and keep silence for a space; then all shall say together this confession and prayer for pardon:

We confess to God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, in the sight of the whole company of heaven, that we have sinned exceedingly in thought, word, and deed, through our fault, our own fault, our own most grievous fault. Wherefore we pray God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, to have mercy upon us.

May the Almighty God have mercy upon us, forgive us our sins, and bring us to everlasting life. Amen.

Priest: O Saviour of the world, who by Thy Cross and precious Blood hath redeemed us;
People: Save us and help us, we humbly beseech Thee, O Lord.

Let us pray

Almighty God, we beseech Thee graciously to behold this Thy family, for which our Lord Jesus Christ was contented to be betrayed, and given up into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer death upon the Cross, who now liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

Collect for Palm Sunday

Almighty and everlasting God, who, of thy tender love towards mankind, hast sent thy Son our Saviour Jesus Christ, to take upon him our flesh, and to suffer death upon the cross, that all mankind should follow the example of his great humility: Mercifully grant, that we may both follow the example of his patience, and also be made partakers of his resurrection, through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

While the people still kneel, the choir shall sing

Bend thy boughs, O Tree of Glory!
Thy relaxing sinews bend;
For awhile the ancient rigour
That thy birth bestowed suspend;
And the King of heavenly beauty
On thy bosom gently tend.

Then all shall stand and sing together:

From an Ecumenical Pastoral letter from the Primate

Amid the fear and anxiety created in the hearts of many people by the threat of nuclear war, Christians are called to bear witness to a hope that is firmly rooted in their Faith. This hope is not founded in some naive optimism, but in God revealed in Jesus Christ.

At this time, therefore, when people everywhere are seeking the way to peace, we invite Christian people in Canada, people of other faith communities, and all men and women of goodwill to participate in a special day of prayer and of fasting. We suggest that this day be Friday, 13 April.

PRAYER FOR PEACE

Lead me from Death to Life from Falsehood to Truth

Lead me from Despair to Hope from Fear to Trust

Lead me from Hate to Love
from War to Peace

In Louisville, at the corner of Fourth and Walnut, in the center of the shopping district, I was suddenly overwhelmed with the realization that I loved all those people, that they were mind and I theirs, that we could not be alien to one another even though we were total strangers. It was like waking from a dream of separateness, of spurious self-isolation in a special world, the world of renunciation and supposed holiness. Not that I question the reality of my vocation, or of my monastic life: but the conception of "separation from the world" that we have in the monastery too easily presents itself as a complete illusion.

This sense of liberation from an illusory difference was such a relief and such a joy to me that I almost laughed out loud. And I suppose my happiness could have taken form in the words: "Thank God, thank God that I am like other men, that I am only a man among others."

It is a glorious destiny to be a member of the human race, though it is a race dedicated to many absurdities and one which makes many terrible mistakes. Yet, I have the immense joy of being man, a member of a race in which God Himself became incarnate. As if the sorrows and stupidities of the human condition could overwhelm me, now I realize what we all are. And if only everybody could realize this! But it cannot be explained. There is no way of telling people that they are all walking around shining like the sun.

A FUN EVENING FOR LADIES! Wine & Cheese party hosted by the A.C.W. & Women's Guild. See attached flyer.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION CO-ORDINATOR: We are seeking a part-time Christian Education Co-ordinator. The main task of this position, which pays a modest honorarium, will be to co-ordinate Christian Education programs within the parish. Applicants must have highly developed organizational and communications skills, supervisory ability, knowledge of and commitment to Christian Education. They should also be able to demonstrate a creative and flexible approach to the job. The person in this position will be directly responsible to the Rector. Address applications to the Wardens and Rector.

FINANCIAL REPORT: The Treasurer reported to last week's vestry meeting that for the month of February expenditures exceeded receipts by $3,415. Total receipts were $17,379 - Total expenditures were $20,794. The cumulative deficit for the year to date is $8,682. This is obviously not a good way to start out the year. LISTENING

Most of the time, even though we may feel in our business dealings or social relationships that we are listening very hard, what we are usually doing is listening selectively, with a preset agenda in mind, wondering as we listen how we can achieve certain desired results and get the conversation over with as quickly as possible or redirected in ways more satisfactory to us.

Since true listening is love in action, nowhere is it more appropriate than in marriage. Yet most couples never truly listen to each other. Consequently, when couples come to us for counseling or therapy, a major task we must accomplish if the process is to be successful is to teach them how to listen. Not infrequently we fail, the energy and discipline involved being more than they are willing to expand or submit themselves to. Couples are often surprised, even horrified when we suggest to them that among the things they should do is talk to each other by appointment. It seems rigid and unromantic and unspontaneous to them. Yet true listening can occur only when time is set aside for it and conditions are supportive of it. It cannot occur when people are driving, or cooking or tired and anxious to sleep or easily interrupted or in a hurry. Romantic "love" is effortless, and couples are frequently reluctant to shoulder the effort and discipline of true love and listening. But when and if they finally do, the results are superbly gratifying. Again and again we have the experience of hearing one spouse say to another with real joy, once the process of true listening has been started, "We've been married twenty-nine years and I never knew that about you before". When this occurs we know that growth in the marriage has begun.

THE APOSTLES' CREED

I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth:

And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord. Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, Born of the Virgin Mary, Suffered under Pontius Pilate, Was crucified, dead, and buried: He descended into hell; the third day he rose again from the dead; He ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; From thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Ghost; The holy Catholic Church; The Communion of Saints; The forgiveness of sins; The Resurrection of the body, And the Life everlasting. Amen.

(congregation sit)

THE BISHOP IS SEATED IN HIS CHAIR
AT THE CHANCEL RAIL

The Presentation: Reverend Father in God, we present unto you these persons to receive Baptism and the laying on of hands.

Bishop: Take heed that the persons whom ye present be duly prepared and meet to receive the laying on of hands.

Ministers: We have instructed them and inquired of them and believe them so to be.

The questioning (Candidates stand)

Bishop: Do you here, in the presence of God and of this Congregation, renounce the devil and all his works, the pomps and vanity of this wicked world, and all the sinful lusts of the flesh?

Answer: I do.

Bishop: Do you believe the Christian Faith as it is set forth in the Apostles' Creed?

Answer: I do.

Bishop: Will you endeavour to keep God's holy will and commandments, and to walk in the same all the days of your life?

Answer: I will, God being my helper.

THE BAPTISM

Officiant: The Lord be with you;
People: And with thy spirit
Officiant: Lift up your hearts;
People: We lift them up unto the Lord.
Officiant: Let us give thanks unto our Lord God;
People: It is meet and right so to do.

Then shall the Officiant say:

It is very meet, right, and our bounden duty, that we should at all times, and in all places, give thanks unto thee, O Lord, Holy Father, Almighty, Everlasting God, for that thy most dearly beloved Son Jesus Christ upon the Cross, for the forgiveness of our sins, did shed out of his most precious side both water and blood; and after his glorious Resurrection gave commandment to his disciples, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

Regard, we beseech thee, the prayers of thy Church. Sanctify this Water to the mystical washing away of sin; and grant that these persons, now to be baptized therein, may receive the fulness of thy grace and ever remain in the number of thy faithful and elect children; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom with thee, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, be all honour and glory, throughout all ages, world without end. AMEN.

I BAPTIZE thee in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

We receive this person into the Congregation of Christ's flock, and do sign him with the sign of the Cross, in token that hereafter he shall not be ashamed to confess the faith of Christ crucified, and manfully to fight under his banner against sin, the world, and the devil, and to continue Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto his life's end. AMEN

Bishop: Our help is in the Name of the Lord.
Answer: Who hath made heaven and earth.

Bishop: Blessed be the Name of the Lord;
Answer: Henceforth, world without end.

Bishop: Lord, hear our prayer;
Answer: And let our cry come unto thee.

Bishop: Let us pray.

Almighty and everliving God, who hast vouchsafed to regenerate these thy servants by Water and the Holy Spirit, and hast given unto them forgiveness of all their sins; Confirm and strengthen them, we beseech thee, O Lord, with the Holy Spirit the Comforter, and daily increase in them thy manifold gifts of grace; the spirit of wisdom and understanding; the spirit of counsel and might; the spirit of knowledge and true godliness; and fill them, O Lord, with the spirit of thy holy fear, now and for ever. AMEN.

When all the candidates have been confirmed, the Bishop will continue:

The Lord be with you:

The People: And with thy spirit

The Bishop: Let us pray.

CHRIST CHURCH - ELBOW PARK - CALGARY

THE ORDER OF HOLY BAPTISM WITH CONFIRMATION AND THE HOLY EUCHARIST

Processional Hymn:

When all have assembled, the Bishop, standing in his place begins the service.

The Bishop: The Lord be with you;

The People: And with thy spirit (remain standing)

The Collect(s) of the Day

The People: Amen

The Collect for Baptism:

Almighty God, by our baptism into the death and resurrection of thy Son Jesus Christ, thou hast turned us from the old life of sin. Grant that we, being reborn to new life in him, may live in righteousness and holiness all our days; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord.

The People: Amen

The Collect for Confirmation

Grant, Almighty God, that we, who have been redeemed from the old life of sin by our baptism into the death and resurrection of your Son, Jesus Christ, may be renewed in your Holy Spirit, and live in righteousness and true holiness; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth with thee, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.

The People: Amen

NOT TO BE TAKEN AWAY

Almighty and everliving God, let your fatherly hand ever be over these your servants; let your Holy Spirit ever be with them; and so lead them in the knowledge and obedience of your Word, that they may serve you in this life, and dwell with you in the life to come; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

AMEN.

The congregation may be seated.

The Bishop's Address

Intercessions - for the newly confirmed, the church especially the diocese and the parish.

At this point the Holy Eucharist follows the Prayer Book Order, beginning with the Invitation on page 76.

After the Absolution, the Congregation will stand.

The Bishop: The Peace of the Lord be always with you;

The People: And with thy spirit

Offertory Hymn:

All shall kneel.

The Bishop shall proceed with the THANKSGIVING AND CONSECRATION, page 78-83

Motet:

After all have received communion, the service will continue with the Lord's Prayer, page 85 and the Prayer of thanksgiving, the people joining in the second paragraph.

The Blessing.

The Collect for the Day — page 143

The Lesson: Acts 6: 2ff — page 640

The Examination

The Bishop: John, every Christian is called to follow Jesus Christ, serving God the Father, through the power of the Holy Spirit; God now calls you to a special ministry of servant-hood, directly under the authority of your bishop. In the name of Jesus Christ, you are to serve all people, particularly the poor, the weak, the sick, and the lonely.

As a deacon in the Church, you are to study the holy scriptures, to seek nourishment from them, and to model your life upon them. You are to make Christ and his redemptive love known, by your word and example, to those among whom you live and work and worship. You are to interpret to the Church the needs, concerns, and hope of the world. You are to assist the bishop and priests in public worship, and in the ministration of God's word and sacraments, and you are to carry out other duties assigned to you from time to time. At all times, your life and teaching are to show Christ's people that in serving the helpless they are serving Christ himself.

Do you believe that you are truly called by God and his Church to the life and work of a deacon?

Answer: I believe I am so called.

Bishop: Do you now in the presence of the Church commit yourself to this trust and responsibility?

Answer: I do.

Bishop: Will you be guided by the pastoral direction and leadership of your bishop?

Answer: I will.

Bishop: Will you be faithful in prayer, and in the reading and study of the holy scriptures?

Answer: I will.

Bishop: Will you look for Christ in all others, being ready to help and serve those in need?

Answer: I will

Bishop: Will you do your best to pattern your life (and that of your family) in accordance with the teachings of Christ, so that you may be a wholesome example to your people?

Answer: I will.

Bishop: Will you in all things seek not your glory but the glory of the Lord Christ?

Answer: I will.

Bishop: May the Lord by his grace uphold you in the service he lays upon you.

Answer: Amen.

Hymn 245: Come Holy Ghost — Veni Creator

The Consecration of the Deacon

The Bishop: In peace let us pray to the Lord.

The people remain standing or kneel, as directed by the bishop. A period of silent prayer follows.

The bishop stands with the priests who assist him; the ordinand John kneels before him; he stretches out his hands toward him and begins this Prayer of Consecration.

We praise and glorify you, most merciful Father, because in your great love of our human race you sent your only Son Jesus Christ to take the form of a servant; he came to serve and not to be served, and to teach us that he who would be great among us must be the servant of all; he humbled himself for our sake, and in obedience accepted death, even death on a cross; therefore you highly exalted him and gave him the name which is above every name.

CLERGY: Herbert O'Driscoll, Robert Griffiths
Honorary Assistants: Joseph Ellis, William Musselwhite, John Swift
Organists: John W. Searchfield M.A. Oxon, Margaret Newman (Assistant)
Parish Secretary: Susan Johnsen
Church Wardens: Drina Barton, David Stauft

Christ Church welcomes you most warmly and invites you to make this your church home. Please complete the tear-off below and place it on the offering plate or hand it to sidesmen.

Calgary, Alberta T2T 3A7

And now we give you thanks that you have called this your servant John to share this ministry entrusted to your Church. (Here the Bishop lays his hands on the head of the ordinand.) Send down your Holy Spirit upon your servant John, whom we now consecrate in your name to the office and work of a deacon in the Church.

Almighty Father, give to this your servant John grace and power to fulfil his ministry. Make him faithful to serve, ready to teach, and constant to advance your gospel, and grant that always having full assurance of faith, abounding in hope, and being rooted and grounded in love, he may continue strong and steadfast in your Son Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with you and your Holy Spirit, belong glory and honour, worship and praise, now and for ever. Amen

The deacon is now vested according to the order of deacons. The bishop gives a Bible to John, saying

Receive this Bible as the sign of your authority to proclaim God's word and to assist in the ministration of his holy sacraments.

NOTICES

Second Sunday in Lent — March 18, 1984

THE FLOWERS ON THE MAIN ALTAR OF THE CHURCH are given in loving memory of Mr. & Mrs. E.O. Wallace and Pilot Officer W.O. Wallace. The flowers on the Chapel Altar are given to Mrs. Dorothy and Mr. Clinton Roenisch with loving memories from Clinton, Betty, Harold and Davis.

IN OUR ANGLICAN CYCLE OF PRAYER THIS WEEK we remember the Province of Armagh (covering the Northern half of Ireland), John W. Armstrong, Primate, with its seven dioceses.
In our diocese of Calgary, we remember the Church of the Good Shepherd, Calgary and Raymond Brassel, priest.

TO-DAY at 5.30 p.m. on C.B.C. Stereo, John Searchfield will be heard in "Organists in Recital".

* CONFIRMATION Next Sunday, March 25th at 7 p.m. 39 young people and adults from the parish will be confirmed. Try and be with us as we welcome them with all the gifts they have to give to our corporate life.

ANGLICANS-IN-MISSION: Income Tax Receipts have been issued for all donations received prior to January 13th, 1984. If any donor has not received their tax receipt, they should either write to Anglicans in Mission, 600 Jarvis St. Toronto, Ont. M4Y 2J6 or telephone 416-924-1123 and speak to Miss Brenda Carroll or Miss Lynn Lochhead.

* TO-DAY'S HIKE - see bulletin board

* GUILD'S PRE-RUMMAGE MEETING - MARCH 27:7 - 8 P.M. IN CRUMP ROOM

* SUNDAY, APRIL 1ST following 8 a.m. communion, there will be a breakfast for all sidesmen and their wives. Please contact John Lund 239-1070.

CHRISTIAN AUTHORS - STUDY GROUP: MARCH 20TH at Liz Craine's house, 1123 Riverdale Ave. S.W., telephone 287-1973. Title of book to be studied "Christ and the Media" by Malcolm Muggridge.

MEALS ON WHEELS urgently need couriers and drivers and would appreciate hearing from all retired people and students in the summer months. Please contact Mary Burns 244-1425.

* RUMMAGE SALE: Mark your calendars - May 4th & 5th. Start doing that spring cleaning and bring your rummage to the church!

 FINANCIAL REPORT: The Treasurer reported to this week's vestry meeting that for the month of February expenditures exceeded receipts by $3,415. Total receipts were $17,379 - Total expenditures were $20,794. The cumulative deficit for the year to date is $8,682. This is obviously not a good way to start out the year. Regular weekly or monthly givings would certainly help the situation.

* A FUN EVENING FOR LADIES! Wine & Cheese party hosted by the A.C.W. & Women's Guild. See attached flyer.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION CO-ORDINATOR: We are seeking a part-time Christian Education Co-ordinator. The main task of this position, which pays a modest honorarium, will be to co-ordinate Christian Education programs within the parish. Applicants must have highly developed organizational and communications skills, supervisory ability, knowledge of and commitment to Christian Education. They should also be able to demonstrate a creative and flexible approach to the job. The person in this position will be directly responsible to the Rector. Address applications to the Wardens and Rector.

FOR TODAY

O God:

Give me strength to live another day;

Let me not turn coward before its difficulties or prove recreant to its duties;

Let me not lose faith in my fellow men and women;

Keep me sweet and sound of heart, in spite of ingratitude, treachery, or meanness;

Preserve me from minding little stings or giving them;

Help me to keep my heart clean, and to live so honestly and fearlessly that no outward failure can dishearten me or take away the joy of conscious integrity;

Open wide the eyes of my soul that I may see good in all things;

Grant me this day some new vision of thy truth,

Inspire me with the spirit of joy and gladness; and make me the cup of strength to suffering souls; in the name of the strong Deliverer, our only Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

O God, who wonderfully created, and yet more wonderfully restored, the dignity of human nature: Grant that we may share the divine life of him who humbled himself to share our humanity, your Son Jesus Christ; who lives and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever.

I am the great sun, but you do not see me
I am your husband, but you turn away
I am the captive, but you do not free me
I am the captain you will not obey

I am the truth, but you will not believe me
I am the city, where you will not stay
I am your wife, your child, but you will leave me
I am the God to whom you will not pray

I am your counsel, but you do not hear me
I am the lover whom you will betray
I am the victor, but you do not cheer me
I am the holy dove whom you will slay

I am your life, but if you will not name me
Seal up your soul with tears and never blame me

Freedom from Lesser Loyalties

O God, I know that if I do not love thee with all my heart, with all my mind, with all my soul and with all my strength, I shall love something else with all my heart and mind and soul and strength. Grant that putting thee first in all my lovings I may be liberated from all lesser loves and loyalties, and have thee as my first love, my chiefest good and my final joy.

My moments of being most complete, most integrated, have come either in complete solitude or when I am being part of a body made up of many people going in the same direction. A vivid example is a great symphony orchestra, where each instrument is completely necessary for the whole; a violin cannot take the place of a trombone, nor cymbals of the harp; and there are even times when the lowly triangle is the focus of the music.

Where have I known this unity? In the Holy Mysteries. Yes. And years ago when I was in the theatre and was privileged to be a small part of bringing a play to life. And I knew it when we lived in Crosswicks year round and I directed the choir in the village church, knew it not because I was director, but because I was a part of something which became a whole, and was far more beautiful than the sum of its parts.

And I know it around the family table where all of us different and dominant human beings, with all our diversity, are one.

And I knew the beauty of community in the birthing of my babies.

I wish I knew it more often in church, and that I were a less reluctant Christian. The Church is too grownup for me, too reasonable, too limited. One reason nearly half my books are for children is the glorious fact that the minds of children are still open to the living word; in the child, nightside and sunside are not yet separated; fantasy contains truths which cannot be stated in terms of proof. I find that I agree with many college-age kids who are rejecting the adult world - not those with bad cases of Peter Pantheism, but with those who understand that the most grownup of us is not very grownup at all; that the most mature of us is pretty immature; that we still have a vast amount to learn.

"The peace that Christ gives is to guide you in the decisions you make; for it is to this peace that God has called you together in the one body."

Colossians 3:15

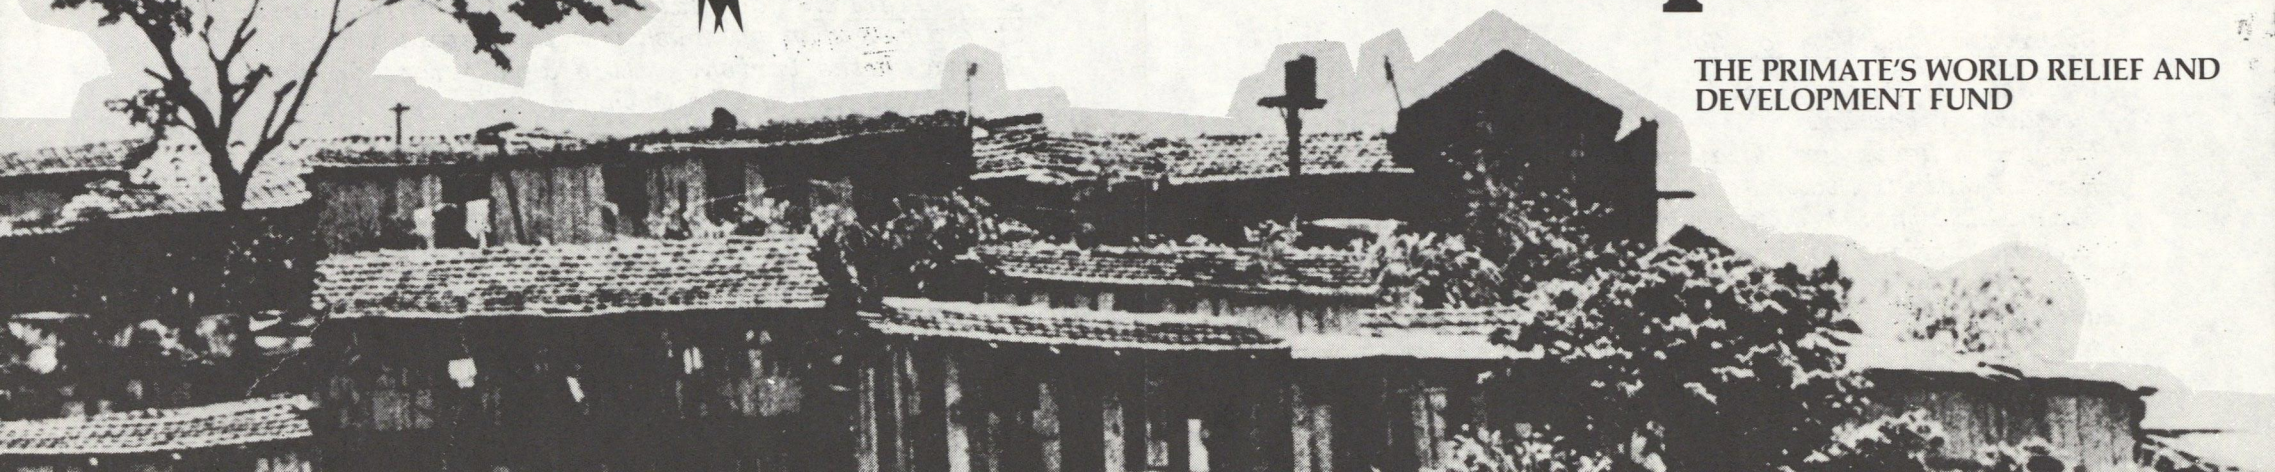

It is this peace that guides us and nourishes Christians around the world who are praying and working together in support of people in developing countries. Together, with Canadian Christians, with others in the developed world and with dedicated leaders and local people in the Third World, assistance is directed to the poorest of the poor.

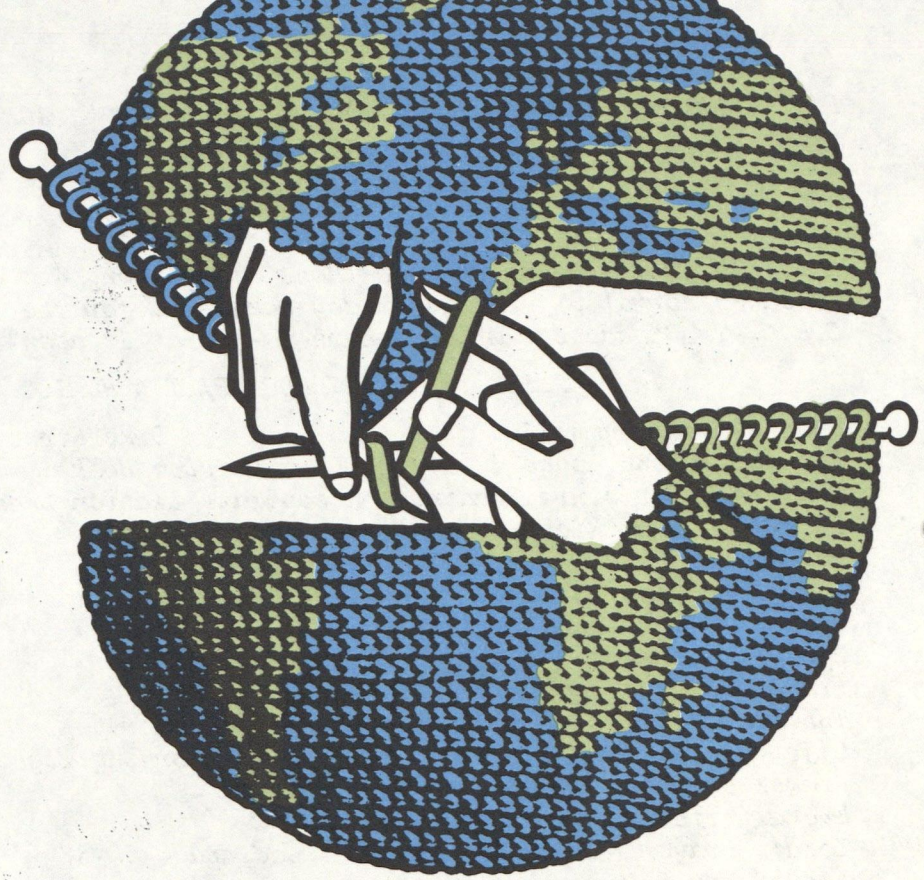

Our contribution to our churches' world relief and development program enables an outreach that renews hope. Hope that is given shape through transformation of peoples' lives. Development can lead to mobilizing people to have control of their own destiny, to turn poverty and malnourishment into a thing of the past.

Together, with the dedication and commitment of all concerned, through the unity of the spirit, it is possible.

together,
it's possible

PLEASE HELP FEED THE HUNGRY

There is a real need for donations of food and money to help feed our hungry in Calgary. Calgary Interfaith feed families every day. All donations of food may be left in the box in the Narthex and they will be delivered every week. Why don't you buy 2 "specials" instead of one and give one to the Calgary Interfaith - every little bit helps.

A FORWARD NOTICE ABOUT CONFIRMATION

The Bishop of Calgary, the Rt. Rev. J. Barry Curtis will administer the rite of Confirmation at Christ Church on Sunday, March 25th at 7.30 in the evening.

FLOWER CALENDAR

The following are a list of open dates on the flower calendar:

A Note on the Music This morning at the 11 o'clock Eucharist we are using one of the two congregational settings, the Missa de Sancta Maria Magdalena by Dr. Healey Willan. We will be using the nine-fold Kyrie and the Gloria in Excelsis from that setting in addition to these parts we normally use. We are doing this so that we learn them and thus add to our repertoire. The Words "Kyrie Eleison" are Greek, and mean "Lord, Have Mercy." They originally formed the people's response to an introductory Litany which is still used in the various parts of the Eastern Orthodox Churches and the other Churches of the East. The Gloria in Excelsis is likewise a Hymn from the Eastern Church which develops the act of praise of the angels at our Lord's birth. It was originally used at Mattins. The Western Church began to use it in the Eucharist in the fourth century.

THE FLOWERS ON THE MAIN ALTAR OF THE CHURCH are given to the Glory of God. The flowers on the Chapel Altar are given to the Glory of God and in loving memory of Mrs. Laura Selby. The flowers on the Font are in loving memory of Douglas Blair Austin from his family and Shauna.

IN OUR ANGLICAN CYCLE OF PRAYER THIS WEEK we remember the Episcopal Church in Jerusalem and the Middle East, Hassan B. Dehqani-Tafti, President Bishop, with its four dioceses. In the Diocese of Calgary we remember this week Barry Patrick, priest and St. Gabriel's, Calgary.

* THIS MORNING we give a big welcome to our new Rector, the Rev. T. Herbert O'Driscoll, his wife, Paula, and members of his family. We are very glad to have them among us.
